ALLIES ARE POWERLESS

Suicide to Attempt to Reach Pekin With Troops Now Available.

BARELY ABLE TO HOLD OUT

Foreign Residents in China Are Aghast at the Chinese Armament--Nothing Definite from Pekin.

London July 5—2 30 a m—The commanders of the allies in Tien Tsin inform the correspondents that it would be suicide to attempt to reach Pekin with the troops now available in the face of the colossal force of imperial troops and Boxers occupying the country between Tien Tsin and Pekin

So far from taking the offensive the 12 000 international troops at Tien Tsin and the 8 000 others at Taku and intermediate points can barely keep up communications fighting incessantly with overwhelming numbers using far more numerous artilleries than the allies

Fighting at Tien Tsin

This telegram has been received

Shanghai July 4—11 10 a m via Che Foo—Tien Tsin city fell between 7 and 8 o clock on the morning of June 30

It is understood that the message from Shanghai undoubtedly referred to the native city of Tien Tsin from which the Chinese have been bombarding the foreign quarters and the dispatch is taken to mean that the allies are more than holding their own

Other advices received by way of Shanghai state that the Chinese losses around Tien Tsin are between 7 000 and 8 000 according to official estimates

The correspondent of the Express at Che Foo telegraphing Wednesday says Admiral Seymour was wounded while sitting in a house at Tien Tsin by Chinese sharpshooters

Official news received at Che Foo shows that the Chinese have been guilty of horrible cruelty towards the wounded and captured subjecting them to what is known as ling che or the slow process of death and write the bodies of the fallen have been mutilated The Russians are retaliating by the wholesale shooting of natives

Tien Tsin according to the Express correspondent shows no signs of drifting into barbarism and savagery

Revolting Barbarities

Revolting stories are told of barbarities practiced upon Japanese and European prisoners captured on the way to Pekin though it was not known before that Admiral Seymour lost any prisoners

The Chinese troops marching toward Tien Tsin the Chinese say, left behind them trails of rapine fire and blood Native women were ravished and children were cut in two

Direct things from Pekin end with the dispatch sent by Sir Robert Hart on June 25

According to roundabout reports it is asserted by the Chinese that Prince Tuan is personally directing the assault upon the legations He conferred honors and gave large sums of money and other presents to the leaders of the Boxers and the commanders of the troops who drove back Admiral Seymour and also gave money to every soldier taking part in the operation

An edict of Prince Tuan s has reached Shanghai, ordering the southern viceroys to assemble the Chinese fleet and to attack the warships at Shanghai

Japan is reported to be landing an army at Petaughs to the northward of Taku The Japanese generals are believed to be about to move toward Pekin following the plan previously formulated

Panic at Shanghai.

European and American residents in Shanghai are quite in a panic over what is viewed as the inadequate military preparations of the powers

A dispatch to the Express from Shanghai says that according to the best military estimates 100 000 men will be necessary to subjugate northern China and even then it will take two or three years The forces of the Chinese empire have shown no motion that even Japan s full strength launched now will be unequal to the task of restoring order

Tao Tai Sheng of Shanghai issued a proclamation on Wednesday which practically forbids foreign warships approaching the Yang Tse Kiang saying if they do so the Chinese authorities will not hold themselves responsible for the consequence

It is considered that the Chinese officials are evading the responsibility of the recent Kiang Yung Yung Chang is suspected The foreigners are simply aghast at the extent of the Chinese armaments which have been systematically [illegible]

Reports from Pekin

Not a single foreigner is now alive in Pekin is the latest Chinese report which has reached Shanghai Traffic reports from the same sources describe the condition of the British legation as something awful It is said that the [illegible] were filled with sick and wounded the killed lying unburied in heaps It is believed that many members and officers of the Japanese women perished when the German of Baron Von Ketteler the German minister set fire to the building That the foreigners at the Chinese capital have been abandoned to their horrible fate seems no longer in doubt

THE DIVISION OF CHINA ALREADY ACCOMPLISHED

Washington July 4—Mr Wu Chinese minister here is in constant correspondence by cable with the viceroys of the great southern provinces of China The substance of some of these communications he has made known to the state department others have been withheld

It is not known positively whether or not the minister has means of communicating with Pekin if so the channel must be tortuous involving the use of a viceroy as an intermediary There also has been correspondence in progress between various Chinese ministers in Europe and the minister at Washington These facts taken in connection with the apparently genuine concern expressed by the Chinese minister for the safety of the foreign ministers at Pekin and their strenuous urging of Li Hung Chang s request that neutrality be observed by powers toward southern Chinese provinces are regarded in diplomatic circles here as pointing to the development of a combination on a large scale of the viceroys and ministers against Prince Tuan and his Boxer adherents in Pekin

The impression is here growing that no matter what happens at Pekin division of China is already an accomplished fact though not upon lines contemplated heretofore by Europeans It is felt that all that part of China south of the Yellow river perhaps and certainly all that part south of the Yang-Tse-Kiang has parted forever from north China but contary to common expectation it is now maintained here in diplomatic circles that these vast and populous provinces of the south are not to pass immediately under direct control of Europe and America is dependencies of these nations but they are either to be formed into another Chinese empire under a new dynasty or are to continue their existence as independent nationalities present viceroys becoming petty kings and princes of absolute power within their own district This system of native states is viewed with some favor for it is believed that civilized powers can hold them in line more easily than if they were combined into one great nation

PRESENTATION TO FRANCE OF LAFAYETTE STATUE

Paris July 4—In the presence of the president of the republic M Loubet the [illegible] General Horace Porter and a brilliant assemblage of representative Frenchmen and the most prominent members of the American colony here the statue in honor of General the Marquis de Lafayette the gift of the American school children to France was presented to the nation by Mr Ferdinand W Peck president of the Lafayette memorial commission and was accepted by President Loubet in behalf of France

This latter fact constitutes eloquent testimony of the importance the French government attached to the occasion [illegible] acance of the presentation by having the president of France assume the leading role in the exercises for which the minister of foreign affairs M Delcasse was originally designated At the last moment the matter was reconsidered and it was decided that on the occasion of this great Franco American demonstration the chief magistrate of the republic was the only fitting representative of the French republic.

STEVENSON LEADS

Slight Leaning in His Favor for Second Place on Ticket.

Kansas City, July 4—Very little that was tangible developed in the vice presidential situation tonight although the Stevenson candidacy apparently met with favor and there seemed to be a possibility of this being the solution of the question

The demonstration made over Hill in the convention today was taken by some to mean that the convention would be stampeded for him, but Hill does not think so and it is possible that if he makes a speech on the platform will make it plain that he could not be a candidate on a Bryan platform He says emphatically that he will not be nominated

The [illegible] they were yesterday Tonight the vice presidency is in doubt with a leaning toward Stevenson

THE SILVER REPUBLICANS

Convention Perfected Its Permanent Organization.

TELLER CHAIRMAN PRO TEM

His Speech was Chiefly Devoted to the Money Question and Was Enthusiastically Received

Kansas City, July 4—The national convention of the Silver Republicans party met in the Auditorium theater today The delegates were rather slow in arriving, and it was some time after 12 o clock the hour fixed for the convention when Chairman Charles A Towne's gavel fell and the party formed in St Louis four years ago, after the bolt of the advocates of free silver from the Republican national convention was launched on its first regular national gathering

Twenty-four states and territories were represented at the convention Comparatively few spectators were present owing to the assembling of the Democratic national convention but there were delegates in abundance especially large delegations being seated from Kansas Nebraska, Minnesota Iowa and Colorado

Shortly before 1 o clock the Minnesota delegates headed by a brass band and carrying a huge banner bearing the pictures of Bryan and Towne entered the hall amid a roar of cheering and a moment afterward Chairman Towne rapped the convention to order and introduced Rev Bigelow, of Cincinnati who invoked divine blessing on the convention

Minister Was Cheered

Dr Bigelow s prayer was a passionate appeal for relief from the chains that are binding us and the golden padlocks that are being forged for our lips from the national sin and the vengeance that is sure to follow

The unusual spectacle was then presented of a minister being cheered Thank God there s one minister who loves the poor shouted a California delegate and the delegates cheered and applauded

After the playing of the Star Spangled Banner by the Posten Military band of Minneapolis the secretary of the committee read the call for the convention and Stanley I Parkhill of Minnesota read the Declaration of Independence Several of the sentiments of the paper were applauded during the reading

After the reading of the Declaration the delegates and audience stood while the band rendered America

Temporary Chairman Towne then introduced Hayden of Chicago as the poet of the new political movement who read his poem entitled The Liberty Bell

[illegible] the author to the gratification of the convention made a short speech in which he commended some of the leading characters of 1776 to those of the last Republican convention in Philadelphia

National Chairman Towne then delivered his address Mr Towne s declaration that the Republican platform announced to a repeal of the Declaration of Independence brought the delegates to their feet and his statement that the convention had met to [illegible] ment were enthusiastically applauded

Teller as Temporary Chairman

I wish now to introduce as temporary chairman said Mr Towne in conclusion that grand old man of Colorado Senator Henry M Teller

Every delegate jumped to his feet and shouted his approval of Senator Teller as the latter stepped to the speaker s table

Mr Towne presented Senator Teller with a gavel made from wood taken from Lincoln s old home at Springfield Ill which was presented to the convention by Lincoln Dubois of Illinois

Chairman Teller then delivered an eloquent address dealing with the monetary question and bitterly denouncing the demonetization of silver

Chairman Teller was given the closest attention throughout his speech which was nearly an hour in duration

"Were we wrong in leaving the St Louis convention" queried he and a thunder of noes came from the delegates If I had not left my party in 1896 I would have done so every month since said he digressing again The conditions now are a thousand times worse than they were then

Demonstration for Towne

The first mention of Mr Bryan s name came near the end of Chairman Teller s speech It started a perfect storm of applause but the demonstration was excelled by that which occurred when Charles A Towne s name was mentioned The delegates one and all jumped to their feet waving flags handkerchiefs fans and hats and shouting and cheering for Bryan and Towne

For two or three minutes the delegates cheered for their choice and when a moment later Chairman Teller finished his speech he sank nearly exhausted into his chair he was surrounded by numbers of the delegates on the stage and congratulated

E S Carser of Minnesota presented [illegible] of 15 of which Henry M Teller shall be chairman to present to the Democratic national convention the name of Charles A Towne as a candidate for vice president and that a committee of conference be appointed to confer with a similar committee which shall be appointed by the Democratic national convention

The various state delegations announced their selections for members of the committee and pending their organization and report the convention adjourned until 10 o clock tomorrow

The committee on resolutions Senator Dubois chairman had a protracted session tonight Several drafts of platforms and numerous amendments were read and discussed The resolutions of F T Van Vorhis of Indiana were formulated on the idea of the creation of a new party They met with the disapproval of Mr Stevenson of Colorado who maintained that if the plank denouncing imperialism were adopted it would imperil success in Colorado not because he was an imperialist, but because many in his state were in favor of expansion and they believed that denunciation of the latter was equivalent to a disapproval of the former It was this criticism which precipitated other platforms and amendments and which resulted in the appointment of a sub-committee of seven Senator Dubois chairman to take up the several reports seriatim and report a platform to the committee to morrow The sub-committee is composed of the following [illegible] son Kansas: A M Stevenson Colorado Charles R Schley Michigan Frank Ransom Nebraska F T Van Vorhis Indiana, Alden J. Blethen, Washington.

TUMULTUOUS ENTHUSIASM

Characterized the First Session of the Democratic Convention.

NO NOMINATION WAS MADE

Whirlwind Demonstrations for Bryan and for Hill Determined Struggle Over Platform.

Special to the Gazette

Kansas City July 4—The convention opened this morning without any spectacular incident except that a band broke in upon the invocation with the strains of The Banks of the Wabash which were not far away for once

The order of business went through with a celerity that smacked of greased lightning

The convention was called to order the call read by Secretary Walsh a prayer made by Chaplain Noel Mayor Reed welcomed the delegates Chairman Jones responded the temporary organization was effected and Governor Thomas introduced by 12 30 which is a record for dispatch hard to dispute

The governors remarks elicited much enthusiasm but the hall is so immense and the audience was so noisy that not more than a few sentences reached the thousands packed into the galleries

After the speech the Declaration of Independence was read or rather orated the rules adopted and committees named

Then an Indianan rose to move that they take up the 13th order of business the nomination of the president, without waiting for the reports of the committees

Governor Thomas evidently expected an attempt at a stampede At a signal the band began to play There was a motion to adjourn and the delegates were marching out to the tune of Dixie before the Indianan could get a second

Since that the convention has met and adjourned twice and the end is not yet

The credentials committee was in a hurry It seated half delegations from Montana and half of each of the other contesting delegations The Oklahoma people appealed to Maloney to seat or unseat one or the other delegations but Maloney who ought to be posted on that kind of a case professed himself powerless They will fight it out in the convention One of Daly s men told Maloney that the Daly men would go home and seat a Republican senator to pay the Democracy back Maloney said It won't be the first time I m glad now we didn t even give you a hearing My conscience was troubling me a little but now I known you [illegible]

The committee on platform is having a hot time If the committee stands for 16 to 1 Senator Daly threatens to reverse the action of F M [illegible] report only he will be fighting against free silver instead of for it

There is a bitterness and a lack of harmony underneath the apparent accord that promises ill for the success of the Democratic party It is generally believed that Chairman Jones will be re elected and it is universally conceded that if he is the campaign is as good as lost to begin with

The treachery of the New York delegation has created a kind of boom for Hill and his name has been wildly cheered and as loudly hissed So far he has refused to respond

Hon C S Franklin the brilliant Denver lawyer is attracting a good deal of attention by his close resemblance to Senator Hill of New York [illegible]

The Colorado fight has taken on a new phase and may cut more figure in national politics than any one imagined a week ago

The governor is trying to win the delegation over to Towne Hon T J Maloney is fighting Towne as a natural sequence

All the booms seem to be diminishing unless possibly in the case of Towne and Shiveley The latest indications seem to point toward Shiveley at least so far as the Colorado delegation is concerned

THE MAIN FEATURES OF FIRST DAY'S SESSION

Kansas City July 4—Amid scenes of tumultuous enthusiasm befitting such an event and such a day, the Democratic national convention began its sessions today

But after sitting until a late hour tonight the expected climax of the day the nomination of William J Bryan as the Democratic candidate for president has failed of realization and all of the larger business of the convention awaits the completion of the platform

As a spectacular event however, the convention has fulfilled the hopes of the most fervid party men for the vast assemblage of delegates and spectators has twice been swept with whirlwind demonstrations first for the leader who is about to be placed in nomination and then for that other champion of Democracy David B Hill

But in actual accomplishment the day s work is confined to organization with the speeches of the temporary chairman Governor Thomas of Colorado and of the permanent chairman Hon James D Richardson the appointment of the various committees and the detailed preparations for the more serious work yet in store

An Inspiring Spectacle

It was an inspiring scene that Chairman Jones looked out upon when at [illegible] gavel, he stilled the tumult and declared the convention open About him were fully 15 000 people rising tier on tier like the spectators in some vast coliseum [illegible] the delegates and alternates of the party while on the joint stage stretched away the rows of desks accommodating representatives of the press from every section of the country

Above and on all sides was a gorgeous sunburst of color huge flags in rosettes and graceful fan shapes bunting looped and in long streamers mottoes and coats of arms of the many states mingling this overhanging spread of color with the bright summer hats and dresses of the many women present

But it was clearly not a gathering alone of wealth and fashion The bronzed faces of many of the men their coarse shirts collars and scarfless marked them as from the soil With hardly an exception they took off their coats and sat shirt sleeved and democratic

Brilliant But Ill-Timed

The early proceedings of the convention were marked by two brilliant but rather ill-timed speeches one of welcome from the mayor of the city and the other from Governor Thomas of Colorado assuming the duties of temporary chairman But the delegates fretted during these deliverances and sought for more exciting themes

The first dramatic episode of the day occurred after Champau of Michigan had secured the adoption of a resolution [illegible] of Independence As the reading was about to begin two attendants pushed up to the platform bearing a pedestal and bust both draped in the stars and stripes As the orator raised his voice for the first words of the immortal instrument the draperies were thrown back, disclosing a splendid head of Bryan The effect was electrical upon the vast assemblage which up to that moment had neither heard the name nor seen the face of their leader As the massive features were recognized a yell went up which fairly shook the steel girders and above the storm could be heard the strains of the band which had broken out with the national air them Men and women were on their feet waving handkerchiefs coats and fans and joining in the wild chorus The orator so soon to proceed there were demands from all parts of the hall to see the full face of the leader and it was turned about first this way and then that each turn evoked a fresh outburst from some new quarter At last the uproar quieted and Orator Hampton a youthful and strong voiced reader of the document which 124 years ago to day proclaimed American freedom

Quickly following this came another outburst as a young woman mounted the platform and in a clear soprano voice sang The Star Spangled Banner deafening cheers greeted the song and as the last line died away and the singer turned the strains to those of America the vast audience with one accord took up the inspiring [illegible] ous paean of the nation s song

Demonstration for Hill.

The outburst of patriotism now turned [illegible] momentary pause in the proceedings the name of Hill was sounded It was quickly caught up first among the delegates and then from gallery to gallery among the spectators until the whole multitude had joined in a noisy demand for the former senator from New York For fully ten minutes the enthusiastic demonstration proceeded Delegates stood on chairs and joined in the demand and the senator was surrounded by a shouting crowd of insistent men He smiled and shook his head throughout the entire demonstration Many of the New Yorkers joined in the tribute but it was noticeable that the immediate following of Mr Croker and the Tammany leader himself held their seats and maintained a stolid composure throughout the remarkable tribute to their associate

At last when the demonstration had run on for 15 minutes Hill could be seen rising from his obscure place in the body of the New York delegation He bowed and smiled and his lips moved to address the chairman But as well might he have addressed Niagara for the waves of tumultuous sound drowned everything and he dropped back in his seat [illegible] had time to think they began to ask each other if Hill was to be the hero of this convention for another [illegible] might carry the convention off its feet and place him on the ticket with Bryan in spite of all contrary calculations

Routine Business.

The routine proceedings were quickly disposed of But even in this there was opportunity to give further tribute to the New Yorker and when Judge Van Wyck s name was called as the New York member of the platform committee a tremendous call for Hill mingled with hisses from those who opposed him followed the announcement With the committees appointed there was nothing to do but await their reports and the convention took a recess at 2 30 until 4 o clock As the delegates filed out of the hall they pressed around Senator Hill who for half an hour was the center of an enthusiastic personal greeting of the individual delegates

At 4 o clock the committees were not ready to report and another adjournment was taken to 8 30

The Night Frenzy.

It remained for the night session to witness the most remarkable demonstration of the entire day Again the great structure was invaded by thousands and the moving picture took on new glories of color and animation under the glare of countless electric lights For the first hour the proceedings were formal and profitless, but when at the close of the speech of Permanent Chairman Richardson he paid a glowing tribute to W J Bryan pandemonium broke loose and historic scenes of Bryan s nomination at Chicago were repeated and even exceeded in a frenzied demonstration lasting half an hour The state standard was wrenched from their sockets and borne aloft while a battle of supremacy was waged between the standard bearers urged on by the deafening applause of the entire shouting gesticulating multitude Outside of the formal proceedings of the day interest was centered in the action of the platform committee

As the evening advanced it became known that a determined struggle was in progress involving not only the question of incorporating a specific 16 to 1 declaration in the party declaration—but to some extent involving the desires of the prospective nominee as to the terms of the platform The outcome is awaited with absorbing interest as the chief development of tomorrow

DETAILS OF THE PROCEEDINGS

Convention Hall Kansas City July 4—At exactly 12 02 p m Chairman Jones ascended the platform As the wave of applause subsided, Chairman Jones rapped vigorously and repeatedly stilling the tumult and then above the din his voice could be heard announcing

The convention will come to order The sergeant at arms will see that the aisles are cleared

Sergeant at arms Martin advanced to the front and urged the crowds in front of the platform to take seats Great disorder prevailed the aisles jammed with shifting, noisy crowds of subordinate officials and intruders and it took some time to secure quiet The first business was the reading of the formal call by Secretary Walsh

[illegible] prayer by Rev [illegible] of the Central Presbyterian church Kansas City

Gentlemen will please be in order said Chairman Jones as the hum and bustle again broke loose after the prayer

We [illegible] the Gentlemen of the convention I have the honor to present to you the Democratic mayor of Kansas City, James A Reed

The Address of Welcome

A shout of applause went up as the slender form of Mr Reed came to the front of the platform He spoke in a voice that easily penetrated to every corner of the hall The first burst of applause that greeted the mayor s speech of welcome came when he spoke of the universality of the Democratic creed which had penetrated to a spot where liberty was known and loved He dwelt at some length on the progress of the principles of the Democratic party which originated he said with the liberty loving people of France and England and came to this continent for its larger growth and ultimate development His allusion to the early leaders of the Democratic party—Jefferson and Jackson—evoked outbursts of cheers He declared that Jefferson believed in expansion only as it made homes for American men upon their own continent

Dwelling at length on the progress made by the Democratic party in the cause of human rights Mr. Reed grew impassioned in his eulogy of the good work done by it through all the years of its existence A yell of applause greeted his announcement that the convention was gathered upon Democratic soil and as guests of a Democratic constituency that had always been in the forefront of the political fights of the country

When he declared that in the name of that Democracy he bid the visiting delegations welcome and proclaimed victory at the polls in November he was interrupted by cheers and applause and the applause when he finished was long

The delegates and spectators had listened with attention but no great enthusiasm applauding the closing sentences Senator Hill entered just at this moment, and the applause turned to him

Hill of New York, "Hill Hill" they shouted

But it was noticed that the New York delegation did not respond to the enthusiasm Hill came in with Elliott Danforth of New York

Delegate John McMahon of Rome arose and gave his seat to the ex-senator Hill smiled and thanked him Meanwhile the crowd continued to yell for Hill

[illegible] interspersed until the chairman finally [illegible] later they renewed the call but the audience was impatient to get on with the proceedings and showed its disapproval with hisses

Governor Thomas' Speech.

Finally the chairman was able to make his voice heard and he introduced Governor Thomas of Colorado the temporary chairman

(Governor Thomas address will be found in full on page 7)

His severe arraignment of the "intrenched enemy" drew a ripple of applause and as he proceeded his well-rounded sentences were punctuated with generous and hearty manifestations of approval

Despite his strong voice, the confusion in the hall became so great that much of the speech was lost to the delegates and spectators An incessant hum sounded through the building mingled with the rustle of thousands of fans the shuffle of countless feet of messengers and officials and the occasional yell of some demonstrative spectator The audience grew fretful under the disorder and the inability to hear and there were shouts of louder mingled with demands for order Governor Thomas proceeded boldly however and when above the racket he was heard to exclaim South Africa [illegible] paying a tribute to the Boers and enthusiastic applause went up There was another cheer when the crowd caught

DECLARATION FOR SILVER

Decided Upon by Committee on Resolutions by Vote of 26 to 22.

AFTER ALL NIGHT DEBATE

The Committee Was in Session Until Three O'clock This Morning--Features of the Discussion.

Kansas City July 4—The resolutions committee decided for an explicit declaration for free silver coinage at 16 to 1. The vote stood 26 to 22 and was taken at 3 30 o clock

Kansas City, July 4—The contest over the question of the money ratio which has been brewing ever since the delegates to the convention began to arrive [illegible] committee on resolutions when it assembled today The committee was called to order soon after the first adjournment of the convention but then only electing its officers adjourning to meet again at 3 30 p m

Senator Jones of Arkansas was unanimously chosen chairman and Mr Metcalf of Nebraska secretary

When the committee reassembled Mr Metcalf presented the draft of a platform covering all questions of public interest which draft all the members accepted as Mr Bryan s expression upon this question

Mr Girard of Georgia also presented a platform as did Mr Van Wyck of New York All of these documents took practically the same ground on all questions except that of finances

Mr Metcalf s declaration was for the reaffirmation of the Chicago platform in letter and spirit and it emphasized and reiterated specifically the declaration of the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 Both the other drafts simply reaffirmed the Chicago platform [illegible]

To Settle the Question

The reading of Mr Van Wyck s document brought Mr Hill of Texas to his feet with the suggestion that the financial question should be immediately taken up and passed upon. He said it was present to all that there was no division upon any other platform question and that with the financial plank disposed of the [illegible] of the remainder of the platform [illegible] merely a matter of clerical work

This suggestion was adopted and the committee [illegible] upon the effort to settle the question of ratio The session proved a very interesting one and many speeches were made Mr Van Wyck led off with a brief statement saying that while in his platform he had referred to four issues as prominent namely, those of imperialism militarism trusts and the finance he considered that only three of these were of current consequence believing that the money question had been crowded into the background by other issues which had passed to the front during the past four years

Senator Daniel of Virginia somewhat to the surprise of some of the members of the committee followed Mr Van Wyck in support of his views of the question The senator said that no man who knew him would doubt for a minute that he now stood where he had stood on the silver question in 1896 and he entertained precisely the same views on this subject which then controlled him He was however anxious to bring back into the fold of the party those who had left it four years ago on account of the position taken on the silver question and if this could be accomplished as he believed it could be by omitting all reference to the ratio he for one was content to pursue that course simply reaffirming the Chicago platform

Demands By Fitzgerald

Mr. Fitzgerald of Colorado followed in a warm speech denouncing in most emphatic language any effort to minimize the financial question He asserted that the omission of a declaration on the ratio of the two metals would be a mere evasion and declared that such evasion would not get any one or catch any of the gold standard people who it was meant to entrap It was only meant to be construed as a silver plank in one section of the country and an anti-silver plank in another Such a course as this would fail to satisfy the people of all sections

If, he said referring to the platform presented by Mr Metcalf Mr Bryan is a good enough platform then the platform approved by him should be declared to be [illegible]

He declared it was essential that there should be a declaration for the ratio in clear and unmistakable terms and he felt [illegible] sertion that if such declaration was not made [illegible] doubtful state with a prospect of not only casting its electoral vote for McKinley as president but of sending Mr Wolcott back to the United States senate

Backed By Williams.

George Fred Williams of Massachusetts also made a spirited argument for a specific declaration on the question of ratio He asserted that the Democratic party had become a new party since it had incorporated the financial question in its declaration of principles It had become a virile and live party since 1896 and this fact was due largely to the circumstances that the money question which was the question of the people had been made the paramount issue He eulogized Mr Bryan in high terms spoke of his self abnegation and patriotism and said that it would be cowardly to ask that gentleman to recant what he had been preaching throughout the country for the past four years. Mr. Bryan had gone up and down the nation preaching bimetallism at the ratio of 16 to 1 and no Democrat had presented a [illegible] to question his authority for such declaration or to pretend that he was in any wise misrepresenting the sentiment of his party It was in his opinion too late now to condemn Mr Bryan [illegible] and to make positive pronouncement on this question would amount to this While not pretending to say what Mr Bryan would do Mr Williams asserted emphatically and significantly that if placed in Mr Bryan s position he would decline a nomination upon an equivocal platform As for himself he did not believe in deserting those people who had left their own parties to support the Democratic policy of four years ago for the purpose of regaining the support of the traitors and trimmers who had left the Democratic party because of its financial position

There is no reason he exclaimed, for making any concession to treason Continuing he asked "Are we going to drive the Populists into the middle of the road in order to get back the traitors? Are we going to sell out our principles to the tories of the Democratic party and desert our real friends?"

He predicted that if this course was to be pursued the trusts would obtain complete possession of the Democratic party as they had already taken possession of the Republican party and in that event there would no longer be any ark of refuge for the plain people

Mr Williams was frequently applauded during the course of his remarks

Plea for Concession

He was followed by Mr Day of New Jersey who made a plea of conservatism and for concessions to the moderate wing of the party He said that he had cheerfully supported the platform and ticket of four years ago and had stumped the country for Mr Bryan, but he felt convinced that the time had come when the money question was no longer paramount and he implored the committee and the convention to put it some hat in the background and make the fight of 1900 on other issues He contended that to reaffirm the Chicago platform was sufficient for all legitimate purposes and said that this should meet the demands of the silver element It really a declaration upon the ratio was insinuated and the silver men should be satisfied with a re affirmation of the principles

At the conclusion of Mr Day s speech the committee concluded to take a recess until 8 o clock in order to allow its members to get their dinners It had become evident to all present that it would be impossible to conclude the preparation of the resolutions in time for presentation to the convention upon reassembling at 8 30

Upon all questions other than that pertaining to finances the three platforms presented were practically the same except that Mr Van Wyck s draft did not cover so many questions as did the other two

Metcalf's Platform

Mr Metcalf s copy after reaffirming the Chicago platform and referring especially to the ratio in the coinage of metals denounces the trusts in drastic language and in the same connection refers to the protective tariff as one of the principal supports to the trust system

It also condemns the alleged tendency of the present Republican administration towards imperialism and the increase of the standing army

Sympathy is expressed for the Boers in their struggle with Great Britain and the president is condemned for his failure to take decisive steps looking towards the manifestation of the sympathy of the American people with the people of the Transvaal

In connection with expression on the Boer question the assertion is made that it is evident to all men that a secret alliance exists between the McKinley administration and the British government and this alliance is denounced as revolting and repulsive to all liberty loving people

The platform also takes positive position on the Philippine question, pronouncing in favor of a policy looking to the granting of liberty and home government to the natives of the Pacific archipelago with a promise of protection to the people of that country against foreign aggression by the government of the United States similar to that which is vouchsafed by us to the South American republics

[illegible] the question of Chinese immigration good roads the reclamation of arid lands of the west, free homes and equal suffrage

When the committee on resolutions reassembled at 8 30 o clock tonight Chairman Jones was of the opinion that the fight over the platform would be carried into the convention as two reports would be presented The first speaker was G Irving Handy of Delaware who took a position in favor of the reiteration of the platform instead of affirmation.

"If you re affirm the platform" said Mr Handy, "you will have to include in it the attack on the supreme court and the Chicago riots, which caused that declaration, are a thing of the past"

Carter Harrison's Speech.

Great interest was manifested in the speech of Carter Harrison of Chicago He went over many arguments that have been made since the convention began and declared that the proper action of this convention was to reaffirm the Chicago platform

"Give us the platform we have adopted in Illinois he said and we will win back some of the votes that have been lost to the Democratic party since 1892 Many of these are in Chicago Offer them the chance to vote for the Democratic party We must have recruits or we cannot win and we must get them in Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin states which are ready to leave the Republican party on other issues [illegible] If we depend upon state issues as Bryan in 1896 we are beaten Standing firmly and flatly upon the Chicago platform of 1896 we can [illegible] sufficient endorse-

Parade Was a Great Success Casualties Which Marked the Day —Blackmail Charged.

Special to the Gazette

Cripple Creek July 4—Today, the second day of the carnival was marred by bad weather The heavens stayed clear during the morning hours long enough for the parade which was finished about noon Clouds began to gather and soon after the noon hour drops of rain began to fall and by 2 o'clock there was a vigorous downfall of rain which continued until nearly 5 o'clock Notwithstanding the bad weather the majority of the large crowd enjoyed themselves It was, however a source of loss to the keepers of ice cream and lemonade stands who had set up temporary quarters laid in a stock of supplies and paid a good license fee for the privilege Many of them will be heavy losers in proportion to the size of their bank accounts

The weather also interfered with the programme of the day The main event of the firemen's tournament was pulled off after the beginning of the rain with difficulty The [illegible] firemen's contest and the hose race which were set for today [illegible] tomorrow The delivery of the prizes also was postponed until tomorrow at 10 o'clock

The Parade

The parade was a grand affair It covered a distance of 18 city squares requiring 47 minutes to pass a given point The floats and decorations of the vehicles especially were noteworthy The pioneers of the camp made an excellent showing Their portion of the parade was headed by a pack train As a float they had an imitation of the first store in Cripple Creek They also had a carriage labeled "The First Nugget" There were 20 pioneer ladies conveyed in two carriages

As a union the Federal Labor Union No 19 certainly made a great showing Their section was headed by a long float on which were seated about 60 ladies members of the union who are employed as clerks in the retail stores This union consists of crafts of which there are not enough members in the city to maintain individual unions Accordingly there were in line many expressmen every one in charge of his own vehicle and teamsters all with wagons well decorated There were numerous floats also There were many banners [illegible] sentiments

The order of the parade was as follows The police force in charge of Chief [illegible] and Night Marshal [illegible] the Cripple Creek Military band the fire departments of Cripple Creek and Victor Mayor Arthur and city council the Victor band Victor [illegible] Pioneers association Knights of St John Cripple Creek drum corps Free Coinage Miners Union No 19 Cripple Creek Miners Union No 40 [illegible] Teller County band [illegible] Carpenters and Joiners [illegible] Electrical Workers [illegible] vehicles Federal Labor Union No 19 [illegible] citizens in carriages [illegible] business houses

The Cripple Creek team won making [illegible] the work in 9¾ seconds As stated [illegible] was done in the rain Last year the Denver team made a record of 6 seconds and took first prize and with good weather there is no doubt that the Cripple Creek team could equal the Denver record The hose team of Loveland and of Colorado City have entered the hose race and [illegible] this city. They will contest for first honors tomorrow.

Drilling Contests

Richard Conley who holds the world's record for single hand drilling won the single hand contest today by a record of 23¾ inches in 15 minutes against J C Studebaker who made only 14 inches Richard Conley three years ago on Labor day beat the world's record making 5½ inches

The straight [illegible] two entries Ed Chamberlain and M G Tarr Tarr made 20¾ inches and would have done much better only that he [illegible] Chamberlain when he drilled 11 minutes and 41 seconds making 23 1-8 inches [illegible] to stop as he had run into an adjoining hole He had done excellently as far as he had gone The decision in the contest will not be [illegible] until Friday afternoon of this week when Chamberlain will be given another chance

enough of the reference to the isthmian canal to know that it was to be under American operation and control

At the conclusion of the speech the building rang with applause the cheering being accompanied by the flutter of the national colors throughout the hall

The first semblance of genuine enthusiasm was created when the secretary of the convention, Charles A Walsh of Iowa rose and read a resolution offered by Daniel J Campau of Michigan that the Declaration of Independence drafted by that Democrat of Democrats Thomas Jefferson be read to the convention on this the anniversary of the nation's natal day

With cheers and applause the resolution was adopted while the band in the south gallery played patriotic airs in lead of the enthusiasm

A Bust of Bryan

Then a dramatic scene occurred As the vast audience was quieting down to listen to the reading of the Declaration two men appeared upon the platform bearing carefully in their arms two large objects each shrouded in the stars and stripes. They were placed the one upon the other immediately to the right and in front of the chairman Delegates and spectators craned their necks to see what was about to occur All realized that a coup was about to be enacted

Quickly advancing to the flag-draped objects a handsome man deftly lifted the flag from a splendid bust of Mr Bryan

As the familiar features of their distinguished leader were recognized by delegates and spectators, a tornado of applause swept over the audience From side to side the bust was turned that all might known whom it represented

When the applause had subsided Charles Hampton of Petoskey, Mich read in magnificent voice the immortal Declaration of Independence

As the full and rounded sentences of the great state paper rolled through the hall the cheering and enthusiasm increased and when Mr Hampton concluded the tremendous applause fairly shook the building When the orator had finished the Declaration of Independence and the applause had ceased Miss Fultoni of New York was introduced and sang The Star Spangled Banner the audience standing and cheering and applauding after each verse It was an innovation in a national convention Then as she finished the last strain, the band took up America and led by Miss Fultoni the great mass of 20 000 people broke into the stirring words My country, 'tis of thee singing it through with unction and closing it with a cheer

Then suddenly somebody started the cry for Hill Hill

In an instant Maryland Tennessee Louisiana Mississippi New Mexico were on their feet waving their standards and yelling Hill Dave Hill

Great Ovation to Hill

The calls for Hill continued The pounding of the chairman's gavel had no effect and for a time it looked like a concerted movement to stampede for the New Yorker As delegation after delegation rose in their seats and the chairman's gavel fell Mr Hill was compelled to rise and bow This was the signal for pandemonium and nothing seemed able to stop the torrent of applause A few hisses were met with volleys of cheers and finally a part of New York's delegation arose and joined the applauding hosts Croker Murphy Van Wyck and the Tammany delegation kept their seats without joining in it

For fully 10 minutes the applause and disorder continued the steady tap of the gavel having no effect [illegible] state standard was pulled up and waved the applause began anew After his first bow to the audience Hill sent his [illegible] but he could not [illegible] felt at the reception accorded him Friends urged him to take the platform but he kept shaking his head negatively On the platform the chairman and the sergeant at-arms tried in vain to get order

Finally Hill himself hoping to stem the torrents of applause arose. Then the delegates and the crowd howled their lives hoarse

[illegible] "Mr Chairman," he ejaculated but his voice was drowned in the fierce outburst of applause

Bedlam Prevailed

Mr Chairman he tried again to say [illegible] laughing in his seat

Just before the demonstration over Mr Hill began Delegate Joshua A Miles a former congressman from Maryland advanced toward the platform occupied by the presiding officer waving the Maryland standard There was so much noise throughout the hall that he could not be heard four feet from where he stood He said that he had risen to move the thanks of the convention to the young lady who had so moved the convention by her rendition of a song which had been written by a Maryland patriot The motion was announced in Mr Miles most energetic manner but it was not heard by a single delegate and the presiding officer found no opportunity to submit it

When after 15 minutes order was restored Governor Thomas administered a stern warning to the assemblage stating that the convention was here to do business and that if the spectators interrupted the work by unseemly disorder the officers of the convention would be directed to clear the galleries

Committees Named

The call of states began for naming the members of the various committees This was tedious work covering all the caucus selections of the several states and territories When the name of Carter H Harrison was called as the Illinois member of one of the committees it brought out a round of cheers and calls for Harrison which for a moment threatened to be a repetition of the Hill demonstration The names of Governor Overmeyer Senator Blackburn [illegible] Williams W J Stone also elicited cheers When August Van Wyck was announced as the New York member of the platform committee there was a storm of mingled hisses and cheers and another [illegible] Mallory of New York led in the applause for Mr Van Wyck's name It took [illegible] with the gavel to restore order and allow the call to proceed

When the last committeeman had been given Chairman Thomas announced that a motion had been made giving the thanks of the convention to the lady who had sung The Star Spangled Banner It was carried

Broke Up the Session

A delegate from Ohio secured the attention of the chairman by violent gesticulation and then mounting on his chair as he was recognized moved that an invitation be extended to Mr Bryan to visit the convention A wild cheer of applause went up before the chairman had been given time to hear a second to the motion

While the cheering over the Bryan motion was at its height the booming of the brass band was heard at the south entrance and down the aisle in front of the chairman's desk came the band which came here with Clark of Montana and behind it in column of twos or as nearly as they could keep that formation the Jacksonian club of Nebraska The band was playing Dixie and the old air received the yell of delight which greets it always The members of the Jacksonian club had with them a large number of ladies and as there were no seats for them a dense throng was soon packed in front of the chairman's desk It was impossible for Chairman Thomas to hear a word uttered four feet from his desk [illegible] motion to adjourn until 4 o'clock which was at once put and carried amid confusion so great that not one delegate in twenty knew to what hour the adjournment had been taken

THE NIGHT SESSION.

At 8 33 Chairman Thomas rapped the convention to order although considerably less than two-thirds of the delegates had arrived

"The convention will now come to order" he shouted and pending the coming reports of the committees the convention will listen to an address from ex Governor Altgeld of Illinois"

The announcement was greeted with applause

Just as Governor Altgeld began to speak the tall form of Congressman Sulzer came stalking through the aisle It was his first appearance upon the floor and although the recipient of no applause he was cordially greeted by many of the delegates as he passed them When he reached the Iowa delegation seated directly in the rear of New York, Cato Sells rose to shake hands with him and instantly there was a group around the tall New Yorker all shaking hands with him and patting him on the shoulder

From the New York delegation however Mr Sulzer received no recognition no hand shake nor smile. [illegible] apparently as [illegible] New York as New York evinced in him and although he nodded familiarly to several of the delegates he spent no time with them

Altgeld's Address.

During the early portion of Governor Altgeld's address the hum of conversation in the galleries and among the delegates was so loud that much of what he said was inaudible except to those close to him The name of Mark Hanna uttered in accents which did not imply approval was the first thing the crowd at large caught and although not many knew just what the missile had been or whether it had hit the mark, there was a howl of delight.

His prognostications of Democratic success next fall was the signal for another vocal spasm and there was another when he declared that if the Democrats of the country had not sufficient confidence in their delegates to entrust the Democracy to them they would not have sent them here to nominate a candidate for the presidency, This coming from a man of Mr Altgeld's known attitude upon the silver question was taken by the 16 to 1 advocates, as a direct championship of their cause and they were on their feet in an instant, shouting and waving hats and handkerchiefs [illegible] the greatest enthusiasm So loud was the cheering that the speaker was compelled to suspend his remarks until the uproar had subsided It came again in a minute however when he declared that any modification of the Chicago platform would place the Democratic party in a ridiculous position before the American people Again his voice was drowned for a full minute while the advocates of 16 to 1 voiced their approval audible beyond the walls

The anti 16 to 1 people took their innings in another minute when he spoke favorably of the ratio of 16 to 1 and there were loud cries No no

Drowned Out By Hillites.

The speaker unwittingly touched off a mine by using the expression in discussing the attitude of certain Democrats toward the silver question "Now, my friend Hill" That was as far as he got for several minutes The name of Hill again started the uproar that had marked the first session of the convention From all sides of the hall, and particularly from the southern [illegible] cries of Hill, Hill mingled with the calls for the New Yorker came hisses in plenty and despite the vigorous use of the gavel all semblance of order was lost and nothing could be heard save the calls of Hill and the disapproving hisses The band in the gallery struck up a lively air but as soon as it subsided the uproar was as great as ever, the California delegation being prominent in calling for Senator Hill It was not [illegible] Governor Altgeld to continue immediately and as the committee on rules declared itself ready to report Governor Altgeld discontinued his address and left the platform.

Committee Reports

The report of the committee on rules was read and adopted

The report of the committee on credentials, seating Mark Cohen and P F McCabe in the New York delegation, the Clark delegation in Montana and giving one-half a vote to each delegation in Oklahoma was read and a minority report dissenting from the decision in the Oklahoma case presented There was some objection made by Murray Vandiver from Maryland to the committee taking no action in the District of Columbia case

After a brief speech in support of his contention that the credentials committee had not dealt fairly with the District of Columbia contest Mr Vandiver moved to recommit that part of the report to the committee The motion was lost amid a storm of Noes, The report of the committee was then adopted as presented without further debate

Richardson for Chairman.

Chairman Thomas then called for the report of the committee on permanent organization When it was announced that Hon J D Richardson of Tennessee had been selected as permanent chairman cheers swept over the great audience The report recommended that Hon John D Richardson of Tennessee be made permanent chairman of the convention also that the temporary secretary assistant secretaries sergeants at-arms reading clerks and all officers and medical officers be made the permanent officers of the convention and in addition that Hon Lincoln Dixon of Indiana Hon Jefferson Pollard of Missouri Hon William [illegible] of Kentucky and Hon W F M Bernamer of Illinois be assistant secretaries

Chairman Thomas after the adoption of the report without debate appointed a committee consisting of Former Governor McCreary of Kentucky Daniel Campau of Michigan and Mayor Phelan of San Francisco to escort the permanent chairman to the platform

When introduced Mr Richardson received [illegible] of the cheers that swept wave after wave through the hall

The first token of approval given to his address was that which greeted his first mention of 16 to 1 The applause however was rather feeble and scattering Much more energetic was the shout that followed the declaration that the coming campaign was to be a trial of the republic against the empire

The hall had become very quiet by the time and the address of Chairman Richardson was given a much better hearing than any that preceded it His arraignment of the failure of the Republican party to establish bimetallism and the creation instead of a single gold standard was received with manifestations of hearty approval

At 10 13 the convention adjourned until 10 30 tomorrow

ment for silver and this is all that is asked We believe we can win on that platform if re-affirmed by this convention.

Representative Ball of Texas said he came from a state which gave Bryan 204 000 majority on the Chicago platform in 1896 and was ready to repeat the operation this year "What is the use" he asked "of making an issue for the purpose of getting whipped? If the states of the middle west and those of the east think they can give the Democratic party their electoral votes on the Chicago platform reaffirmed why not give it to them?

"Silver is not an issue in this campaign" he continued Every man here knows that there can be no silver legislation during the next presidential term because the complexion of the senate cannot be changed in that time We must secure 600,000 votes this year that we did not have in 1896 to win We must get those votes on the issues of trusts, imperialism and militarism Why should we require men of the east and middle west to accept reiteration? Why do you insist upon specific declaration for free silver at 16 to 1? Why do you want to cram it down their throats in order to be vindicated? The gentleman from Massachusetts (George Fred Williams) is one of the advocates of this vindication, yet he comes from a state that can not and will not send a single man to congress who will vote for 16 to 1. He had to hold his convention two years in advance of the national convention in order to hold his organization Does any man believe that Illinois, West Virginia Maryland and New York and New Jersey states which have elected Democratic presidents, can be carried on a specific declaration of 16 to 1? The men who are advocating this declaration are either unwise or stubborn If the advocates of 16 to 1 had presented any sound argument why it should be specifically reiterated, it might be well to do so but none has been presented"

Mr Ball said Texas had instructed him to oppose a specific declaration for 16 to 1 in the Kansas City platform

F W McGettrick of Vermont was the next speaker He said he was a Gold Democrat He did not follow 16 to 1 in 1896 and did not want to follow it now but as it was a question of either specific declaration of 16 to 1, or re affirmation of the Chicago platform, he favored the former plan which seemed to be one of principle

Representative Francis G Newlands of Nevada declared in favor of specific declaration for 16 to 1 While it would be logically true that the principle would be maintained if the Chicago platform were affirmed it would be best to make a new declaration, he said

Ex-Governor Stone, of Missouri indicated that his judgment was opposed to specific declaration for 16 to 1 but he said it was evident that Mr Bryan was favorable to such declaration He would therefore support the proposition as he thought the candidate should under the circumstances be allowed to suggest the platform on this question

Mr Reid representative of Senator Gorman, of Maryland opposed the [illegible] He said he hoped Maryland would be found in the Democratic column this fall under any circumstances, but that with 16 to 1 eliminated he was sure it would be there

Senator Rawlins of Utah was favorable to 16 to 1 pronouncement but did not contend for it as absolutely essential Messrs Gibbons of Florida and Blackman of Louisiana supported a conservative view

The Final Vote.

The vote stood as follows on a resolution to substitute a 16 to 1 declaration for a simple re-affirmation of the Chicago platform

Ayes Alabama, Arkansas Colorado, Delaware Idaho Iowa Kansas Kentucky Maine Massachusetts Missouri Nebraska Nevada, New Hampshire North Dakota Oregon South Carolina Tennessee Vermont Washington Wyoming, Arizona, Oklahoma, Indian Territory, New Mexico Hawaii—26

Noes—California Connecticut, Florida, Georgia Illinois Indiana Louisiana Maryland Michigan Minnesota, Mississippi New Jersey New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania Rhode Island, South Dakota, Texas, Utah Virginia West Virginia, Wisconsin Alaska—22

The plank agreed upon is as follows

"We reiterate the demand of the platform of 1896 for an American financial system made by the American people for themselves which shall restore and maintain a bimetallic price level and as part of such system the immediate restoration of the free and unlimited coinage of silver and gold at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1 without waiting for the aid or consent of any other other nation

A sub committee consisting of Jones Blackburn, Metcalf Gerrard Van Wyck Stone Williams McGettrick and Tillman was appointed to draft a platform

The advocates of re-affirmation say they will not decide as to whether there shall be a minority report until tomorrow

Hauser of Montana did not vote and the District of Columbia was absent

CREDENTIALS

Clark Delegation Was Seated By the Committee Row Followed the Regular Session.

Kansas City, July 4—The committee on credentials made quick work of the contests They assembled at the Kansas City club and Edward Gray of Texas was made chairman The only hearing given was to the District of Columbia and the committee decided to admit both delegations with half a vote each

When the Indian Territory case was reached Chairman Gray called out Sheriff bring in the Indian Territory contesting delegation search them and take away their knives and pistols and then give them the [illegible] After a very brief hearing each delegation was seated with half a vote

The greatest interest centered in the Montana case and as soon as it was called a motion was made to ratify the action of the national committee and seat the Clark delegation A substitute to give each side a hearing was defeated by a vote of 33 to 13 and the Clark delegation was seated without division

The Oklahoma contestants were given half a vote each although there was a protest from both factions.

Two New York men Forest and Mahoney representing what they said were the Bryan Democracy of New York wanted a hearing They had [illegible] of the New York [illegible] delegation yesterday and the credentials committee decided not to take up the matter.

The committee adjourned and then there was a row The New York and the Oklahoma men began speaking The crowd surged in mounted chairs and pushed up around the chairs Mahoney made himself chairman and attempted to secure order An attempt was made to get the dissatisfied element from all states and territories to organize a protest and submit a minority report to the convention Finally Mahoney got order long enough to make a speech denouncing Hill Croker Murphy and Van Wyck and the Democrats who supported them Soon there was pandemonium and the side meeting terminated

WESTERN LEAGUE.

A Double for Denvers.

Denver, July 4.—Denver won both games to-day from Pueblo. The morning game was a walk over for the locals and was characterized by listless playing on both sides. The first five innings of the afternoon game were played in a drizzling rain. It was a pitchers' battle. Eyler struck out ten men. Whitridge for Pueblo pitched a good game and with decent support would have made it extremely difficult, if at all, for the locals to win. Only 500 turned out to see the morning game, but the grand stand and bleachers were packed in the afternoon. The scores:

Denver	3 0 0 3 2 0 0 1 3—12

The two rolled over the field for a while until separated by other players. Doyle was arrested and taken to the police station. Emslie was arrested after the game and both charged with disorderly conduct. GOVERNOR THOMAS' SPEECH.

ASIDE from his politics Colorado had no reason to feel ashamed of her governor as he appeared before the national Democratic convention and delivered the speech of the temporary chairman which was intended to sound the keynote of the presidential campaign

In criticising such a speech one naturally contrasts it with that of Senator Wolcott which was delivered under similar circumstances at the Republican convention in Philadelphia. Of the two Wolcott is undoubtedly the better orator, and he had the advantage of a better subject but leaving these two very important things out of consideration the governor did everything that could reasonably be expected of him and reflected credit upon himself and the state

In regard to the subject matter of the address criticism must necessarily be partisan If one be a Democrat the governor's words would naturally appear to be the embodiment of political wisdom and his conclusions fully justified by the facts If a Republican one would conclude that his arraignment of the Republican party was wholly unjustifiable under the circumstances and his promises of what the Democrats would do if they had the power, wholly unwarranted by the record of the party in the past or the present condition of national affairs.

To the unprejudiced and unpartisan observer the man who is going to vote as he thinks and whose decision will determine the result of the election next November it seems that the speech of Governor Thomas was lacking in the facts which form the basis of political argument. It was a cleverly drawn plea for the Democracy, an argument intended to arouse the enthusiasm of the party followers and to draw to its ranks the undecided voters, but it presented in support of its appeals nothing more substantial than assertions which might possibly be erroneous or mistaken In this particular it was in marked contrast with the speech of Senator Wolcott to which reference has been made When the Republican chairman argued in favor of the Republican party as the sponsor of prosperity he presented the official figures to prove that prosperity actually existed when he asserted that our balance of trade with other nations had greatly increased he gave the amount But when Governor Thomas brought an accusation against the Republican party as the friend and protector of trusts he gave no particulars he presented no statistics he simply made an assertion which every Republican is ready to deny From the beginning to the end of the speech there is an abundance of assertion of criticism of earnest appeal to partisan prejudice and enthusiasm but there is very little of fact of reason of calm appeal to that which men in their sober senses rely upon to determine their judgment

If Governor Thomas' speech is to be the keynote of the Democratic campaign, it would seem to be the purpose of the Democratic organization to direct their efforts rather to holding in the people who were marshalled under their banners four years ago rather than to attempt the conversion of those independent voters who are essential to the success of their party

THE FRIENDSHIP OF FRANCE.

THE presentation of the statue of Lafayette to the French government by Americans on the fourth of July is another one of numerous acts of international friendship which have . . . from time to time to keep alive the bonds between the two greatest republics of modern times

There is probably no other country so . . . as France and for this the French themselves are largely responsible To most foreigners and to many Frenchmen Paris is France and the history of this most turbulent of cities and the acts of a government which is always erratic and frequently unreasonable is apt to blind the world to the . . . nation that is as steadfast and solid and whose friendship is well worth keeping

There is much in French government as well as in French character that does not commend itself to the American but on the other hand there are very good reasons for the close sympathy and good feeling that exist between the two nations After more than a hundred years the American people have not yet forgotten the nation that came to our assistance when we were fighting for our freedom and the sentimental consideration for our former allies has more than once determined the course of diplomatic events America cannot forget though France seemed to do so more than once that Lafayette was a Frenchman and there is prevalent among the common people of the United States as well as in our official circles a feeling of friendship and sympathy for the great republic of Europe

On the other hand the French people owe to the United States the foundation of their liberty It was the influence of the American revolution that cast down the kings of France and erected in their stead a republic which has persisted with occasional interruptions to the present day. The feeling of the French people if not always the French government has remained friendly to the United States, and if it were not opposed to our traditional policy the two nations might on many different occasions have found themselves acting under the bonds of a closer alliance.

The United States fortunately occupies a position among the nations where it may loyally be friendly to all of them It is not a good policy for us to single out any one for an intimate friendship nor to bind ourselves under obligations to one which will bring us into hostility with . . . all the nations of Europe and our good will extends to them all With the English we are more closely connected because from them we have derived our language and our laws and to a larger extent than from any other our customs our . . . of thought. But our friendship for Great Britain is not exclusive of our friendship for France for Germany for Russia and for other nations of Europe We find in them all much to admire and possibly something to imitate We wish them the highest measure of prosperity and happiness and the largest amount of liberty consistent with peace and good government If we have special reasons for friendship with Great Britain we have also other ones for Russia our long standing friend and our helper in times when we needed help, if we are specially drawn to Germany by the number of industrious honest intelligent citizens she has brought to swell our ranks we are also drawn to France whose government is modeled on our own and whose people have for more than a hundred years delighted in the love of liberty and glory with a passion unknown elsewhere To each in turn we give the hand of friendship and esteem

The statue of Lafayette attests our friendship for France, but there is in that friendship nothing that our friends in other countries need regret or at which they need to take offense.

The Republicans had no national convention yesterday but the little celebration at Canton O . . . worth taking notice of

A TALE OF HORROR.

NO WRITER of fiction could evolve from his imagination such a tale of horror as the one which is being brought to us piecemeal from day to day by the cable dispatches from China

Enough is known already to make it sure that many Europeans as well as native Christians have fallen victims to the fury of the mob and it is now extremely unlikely that any of the Europeans in Pekin will escape

The thought of that little band of white men and women waiting in vain for the help that never came and in danger most of all from those who were mostly relied on for protection is one that sends a shock of horror and anger throughout the civilized world

There is no doubt that vengeance will come Germany answers the news of the murder of her minister with a division of 15 000 men and a squadron of five battle ships, and other nations are taking similar action in anticipation of similar news China must be taught a lesson that will remain impressed on the Asiatic mind for hundreds of years and that will prevent the possibility of the repetition of such a crime

European states have little regard for the inalienable right of anarchy to which one great American party seems committed and the occurrences in China will make them less respectful than ever before of the consent of the governed in securing the peace of the world and the observance of international obligations.

A SIGNIFICANT SENTENCE.

THERE is a sentence in Governor Thomas' speech at Kansas City which will be especially interesting to the voters of Colorado

In the course of his remarks Governor Thomas said

"If the enormous gold yield of the past five years were indefinitely prolonged and the area of the gold states were not extended, the need of bimetallism would be relatively inconsequent"

In the above Governor Thomas admits that there might come a time when bimetallism would not be the leading issue and others might surpass it in importance In this he differs only in point of time from those former earnest advocates of free silver who have formed the opinion that the time has already come when because of the enormous increase of gold production, as well as from other causes the need of bimetallism is relatively inconsequent

There is no good reason then why Governor Thomas should criticise his fellow citizens for holding the position now that he admits he might himself occupy at some future time

SOME LIGHT ON CHINA.

SOME recent dispatches throw interesting light upon the Chinese situation, although the news remains fragmentary and wholly unreliable It is often difficult to judge as between two dispatches which is the later, and a story repeated with great circumstance on one day may be denied the next leaving the reader in doubt as to which of the two, if either of them is true

According to the latest dispatches the situation is about as follows

China is divided into 18 provinces, each of which is ruled by a viceroy or governor general The capital of the empire is Pekin in the province of Chi Li The rightful emperor if he is still alive is Kuang Su whose succession was proclaimed in 1875 at the age of 3 years During his minority the empress dowager Tszeze An, (all Chinese names are variously spelled) acted as regent The emperor came of age in 1887 and assumed nominal control of the government but in September, 1898, an imperial edict was issued announcing that the emperor had resigned abdicated in favor of the empress This was understood to mean that the emperor had been too liberal in his policy and that the old empress had succeeded in a coup d'etat

The succession to the throne in China is not hereditary The empress was one of the wives of the preceding emperor who died in 1875 while Kuang Su was the successor largely by the influence of the empress

In January 1900 another emperor was proclaimed the person selected being Kuk Wei (or Pu Tsing) son of Prince Tuan

So much of Chinese history is authentic

It ought also to be remembered for the better understanding of current events that the imperial government is in the hands of Manchus a foreign race that conquered the Chinese in 1644 Rebellions against this authority have been frequent and by some persons the main objects of the Boxer movement is said to be the overthrow of the Manchurian dynasty

According to the recent dispatches there has been a revolution in Pekin The old empress has been deposed and Prince Tuan father of the new emperor, who has somehow gained control of the Boxer movement is directing the government and waging warfare against all foreigners It is also stated that the viceroys of the southern provinces have refused to acknowledge the authority of Prince Tuan, and have notified the European governments of their ability to maintain order in their provinces

There is also an important rumor to the effect that a revolt has broken out in Russian Manchuria which will engage the attention of that empire and prevent Russian troops being thrown to the relief of Pekin with the celerity desirable under the circumstances and that therefore Japan will be invited by the powers to send a large army for the suppression of the revolt at Pekin These statements however require further confirmation

THE SMILE OF THE TIGER.

IF THERE was one reason why Tammany in 1896 should smile and smile and be a villain still so far as the Democratic candidate for president was concerned there are sixteen reasons for the same course at the present time

. . . not the least objection on the part of Tammany to the nomination of Mr Bryan

Certainly not for Mr Bryan has pledged votes sufficient for his nomination

There is no objection on the part of Tammany to the nomination of an avowed free silver man for vice president

Tammany is even willing that the platform should be drawn upon the lines which insured Democratic defeat in 1896 for the good and sufficient reason that a majority of the convention is in favor of that sort of a platform

But certainly having yielded so much the tiger should not be denied the satisfaction of a smile

AN AMERICAN'S GOOD SENSE.

ACCORDING to the New York World the relief expedition under Admiral Seymour was saved from extinction by the good sense of the commander of the American contingent Captain McCalla

The story goes that the other troops took only five days supplies with them but the Americans carried rations for two weeks and in time of need were able to supply their allies and provide for the entire force until rescue reached them

We hope the story is true It is a pleasant thing to think about and it will add considerably to the esteem . . . associates

Expansion, Not Imperialism.

(Chicago Times Herald)

Expansion is likely to be not only the most important but the most warmly contested issue of the coming campaign and if the expansion plank is the last in the Republican platform it is perhaps the one which will be read with the greatest interest Fortunately the wording has not the slightest suggestion of imperialism The paragraph is wholly sane, logical and concise and it proclaims a policy which is absolutely necessary in one respect, as it is reassuring and generous in another

A short introduction refers to the overthrow of Spanish sovereignty in the West Indies and the Philippines and it is then pointed out that this devolved upon us the responsibility to provide for the maintenance of law and order and for the establishment of good government and for the performance of international obligations"

After this follows a shrewdly turned expression which will give the anti-imperialists some trouble It is

Our authority could not be less than our responsibility

That, we think, sums up the whole question of expansion If there were real and very serious obligations such as the prevention of anarchy, the protection of foreigners and of life and property generally and we know that there were why cry out against an authority which is merely commensurate with the responsibility? With all that has been said against the exercise of this authority, we have never yet heard a single suggestion by way of a substitute that deserved a moment's consideration There has been an interminable deal of querulous criticism but of constructive statesmanship not a word

To the people who are destined to remain under our flag there is promised "the largest measure of self-government consistent with their welfare and our duties" and of Cuba there is an assurance that the pledge of independence will be fulfilled This should have an excellent effect upon Cuba where attempts have been made to convince the natives that the Americans were not acting in good faith.

Representing One Hundred Billions

(New York Press)

"The four-billion dollar Republican convention is opened!"—(The Journal

Your figures are too low, neighbor It is a hundred-billion dollar convention for the delegates who assembled yesterday represent the property of the whole United States and we do not think that the wealth of the United States today is less than one hundred billions From the results of the eleventh census J K Upton, the special agent estimated that in 1890 the true valuation of all the property and personal possessions in this country was sixty-five billions He classified this actual wealth as follows

Real estate	$39 544 541 333
Live stock farm implements and machinery	2 703 015,040
Mines and quarries, with product on hand	1 2?1 2?1 ?
Gold and silver coin and bullion	1 158 774 948
Machinery of mills and material and product	3 0?8 ?3 441
Railroads and equipments	8 685 407 323
Telegraphs telephones shipping etc	701 ?0 71?
Miscellaneous	7 893 708 821
Total	$65 037 091 19?

From 1880 to 1890 the wealth of the country increased 49 per cent or nearly one-half The increase from 1890 to 1900 should be even greater It is true that in the melancholy years between the Democratic triumph of 1892 and the Republican restoration of 1896 the wealth of the country not only did not increase but was largely diminished But the increase of wealth since the defeat of Mr Bryan in 1896 has been unprecedented in this or any other land on the face of the globe The possessions of American citizenship at the present time therefore, must be of the value of one hundred billions

The preservation or destruction of this stupendous wealth of the nation will be the main question before the voters of the United States in the campaign which will open when the Republican national convention closes That convention is framing the question for the voters On the disposition of that . . . the comfort of one tenth of our population of . . . bread and butter of the other nine-tenths

It is more than a four billion dollar convention neighbor It is a hundred billion-dollar convention The Republican party admits it—and gladly

The Typical American

(Philadelphia Press)

The interesting feature about such a gathering of Americans from all parts of the union and the territories as has thronged the hotel corridors and been . . . the streets for the week past is not that they are component units so different in outline and manners and appearances but that they are so much alike Whether from Maine or Washington Maryland or California Texas or North Dakota the extremes or from the central states and the middle west, there is a similarity that is most striking and a certain uniformity that demonstrates clearly that the typical American does exist despite certain minor differences Change the legend under a group of portraits and with a few exceptions as to dress perhaps one delegation might masquerade as another, hailing from some thousands of miles away

This similarity this uniformity is due in part to the interchange of sons between the Atlantic seaboard and the Pacific coast and the general interstate exchange that has carried the ideals of the older section out to the frontier, now practically a non existent line One cannot escape the influence of the New Englanders who have gone west nor the connections of the middle states who have trekked from their comfortable homes to newer states and developing territories and as for the Ohio man and his descendants they and their stamp as unmistakable as admirable are everywhere Every day the seventy millions inhabitants of the United States read and talk and discuss the same subjects and live under social conditions every year approximating more closely to the same type Through this we reach a condition of national . . . determinative influences which have their greatest activity in American life

Were the uniformity the similarity noticeable in the most divergent types a modern dead level uniformity a uniformity in which all originality were crushed to an unmeaning . . . one might be apprehensive over the development of the typical American Fortunately, however, this uniformity is in no wise out of harmony with the greatest possible personal variation and hence allows the freest most characteristic individuality with the type undisturbed If one is to read into American life the lessons from evolution and development it is clear that those peoples succeed whose general conditions promote a uniformity of essentials on a high level so as to make for oneness of purpose social and national and yet allow such a free variation as to bind no one who is not willing to be bound

There is this great personal variation in the American type there is a sectional and a local variation and yet the gathering together of thousands from ocean to ocean reveals the amazing similarity and makes clear that the American type is a distinct physical and social fact and one that is endowed with qualities that win.

Will Bryan carry his own state? Well hardly The people of Nebraska are like an old soldier they do not want to go backward retreat is out of the question It is a question for the people to decide whether they . . . and have steady employment or exist in idleness and want —(Colorado City Iris

Rough Riders to Rally at Colorado Springs

Oklahoma City, July 4, 1900.

Hon. L. C. Dana, Colorado Springs:

Roosevelt's Rough Riders' association have decided to hold their next reunion in Colorado Springs. San Antonio, Texas, and Muskogee, I. T., pressed their claims.

Sherman Bell.

Oklahoma City, July 4, 1900.

Hon. J. R. Robinson, Mayor, Colorado Springs:

The next regimental reunion of Roosevelt's Rough Riders will be at Colorado Springs. The decision is brought about through the efforts of Lieut. Horace K. Devereux and Trooper Sherman Bell.

C. E. Hunter, Regimental Secretary.

The above telegrams are self-explanatory.

Colorado Springs has won another big gathering for next year. It will not be the biggest convention in the west so far as its own numbers are concerned, but it will probably bring together in Colorado Springs one of the biggest assemblies of people that will have been gathered in the city in her history.

Last year's gathering in honor of the returning Colorado volunteers showed what would be the spirit in which the people of the state would regard the presence in Colorado of a large body of soldiers. By reason of the universal and well earned popularity of the Rough Riders, and the fact that Colorado Springs will entertain the whole regiment whereas last year each city of importance in the state was holding a celebration in honor of its own company of volunteers, there is no doubt that the reunion of the Rough Riders next year will be one of the biggest state and western country gatherings of many years.

Colorado Springs will spare no expense or effort in preparing for the entertainment of the Rough Riders. The part that the Rough Riders who went forth from this city played in the work of the regiment was such that the organization is particularly dear to Colorado Springs people, and there is no doubt but they will rally en masse to the standard that is set up to mark the gathering place of those who desire to have a part in the entertainment.

Colorado Springs will welcome the Rough Riders as they have never been welcomed yet.

No Experiment Station Equal to Glen Eyrie

Mr. John P. Brown, secretary of the Indiana Forestry association is in the city. He is making a tour of the western states in the interest of the association. He has just come from the Black hills, where he has been investigating an insect pest, a small beetle, which bores into the bark of the trees and loosens it from the tree. He was [illegible] investigate the forests here.

Mr. Brown is undoubtedly [illegible] best informed men in the west on the subject of forestry and matters incident thereto. His home is at Connersville, Ind., and the entire section of the country owes him much for directions as to the best ways to preserve the forest resources which they have there.

Visited Glen Eyrie.

Mr. Brown visited Glen Eyrie yesterday, and was shown all the beautiful country seat by General Palmer.

"I did not dream that there was anything [illegible] Glen Eyrie in Colorado," said [illegible]. "I have traveled quite extensively and have always been interested in country seats of that kind and forest preserves generally, but I can say without drawing the truth a bit too far that I never have seen anything anywhere so impressive of its kind as is Glen Eyrie.

"General Palmer has over there the results of experiments that exceed in value and practical benefit anything that is to be found at any [illegible] experimental station in the United States. [illegible] Colorado will not owe a big debt to General Palmer [illegible] that he has made there. It costs lots of money to experiment with tree raising and the demonstrations that have been made at Glen Eyrie as to what will and what will not grow have cost more money than the state will put to such use for years and years and in the meantime the entire state will be having the benefit of General Palmer's experiments."

Will Remain Several Days.

Mr. Brown will remain in Colorado Springs and vicinity for several days [illegible] trees of the vicinity to ascertain their condition and the prospect for the longevity of the various kinds.

Was on Pike's Peak in Yesterday's Snow

Among the visitors to the summit of Pike's Peak yesterday was Edwin A. Oliver, associate editor of the Yonkers (N. Y.) Statesman, which will contain this afternoon an account of the snowstorm and electrical display in the clouds on the Fourth of July. It was the good fortune of the passengers on the cog road yesterday afternoon to encounter this rarity.

Mr. Oliver is at the Alta Vista while visiting the attractions of the Peak region. He is returning from an extended tour of the country, and brings the encouraging opinion that all the Democratic talk about Bryan carrying New York is based on wind.

"They cannot beat Roosevelt in his own state," he said, "and I have found pretty much the same sentiment throughout that portion of the country I have recently visited. The governor is popular at home and away from home. Laying aside political issues, his popularity would carry New York by 30,000 to 40,000. And he is just the kind of man whose personal magnetism appeals to every well thinking man. The ice trust in New York is a home made barrier that the Democratic party cannot overcome. Some of those interested in this trust are Republicans, but it is controlled by the leading Democratic political masters in New York, and the Democrat who talks against trusts there this fall will find it a knotty problem.

"Coming in on the train I heard an offer to bet $100 that Colorado would go Republican this fall. I was surprised, but fully expected such confidence in a few years from now, when a little more of McKinley's justice and wisdom of administration has been inoculated into the people. There is reason why Colorado should not join the other states and demonstrate no desire to change from present conditions, which no one can attribute to other cause than Republican administration."

THE DAY WITH THE POLICE DEPT.

Despite the fact that yesterday was the fourth of July the police had less to do than usual. Only two arrests were made and one of those was made at 3 o'clock yesterday morning.

J. W. Hart was found drunk on Huerfano street yesterday afternoon. He was arrested by Officers Shelby and Gaines and taken to the city hall. He will appear in police court this morning to answer to the charge preferred against him.

A man who gave his name as Thos. Casey was arrested at 3 o'clock yesterday morning in the Blue Front restaurant on Huerfano street. He appeared in the restaurant without coat, hat or shoes on and seemed to be greatly under the influence of liquor. He had apparently rented a room in some lodging house near by and after taking off a part of his clothes he made up his mind to go down upon the street and get something to eat before retiring. He walked into the restaurant and ordered his supper, paying no attention to those who were being entertained at his expense. The police were notified and Officers Scofield and Gaines were sent to arrest him. He was allowed to get the remainder of his clothes before being removed to another lodging in the city jail. He will be given a chance to explain his actions this morning in police court.

"The next thing Colorado will be doing in a political way will be to furnish all the candidates for the national tickets," remarked Robert M. Patrick of Denver, at the Alamo yesterday. "The state was looked to for temporary chairman of the national conventions of four parties this year, and in each instance a Denver man was selected. When was there such a peculiar coincidence. Or, is it a coincidence? Colorado will play an important part in politics this fall and it is well to honor the state as the four conventions have done. Senator Wolcott, temporary chairman of the Republican convention; Governor Thomas in the same position with the Democrats; Senator Teller for the Silver Republicans and Thomas M. Patterson, temporary and permanent chairman of the Populist convention. That is an honor of which citizens of the state should be proud—to know that in every party there is capable timber for such exalted honors."

William H. Sweeney, Jr., editor of the Canon City Clipper, was a visitor in the city yesterday.

"I thought I would come to the Springs and see the celebration of the Fourth," he said. "We celebrated at Canon all night last night and they are still at it down there. I had not had an opportunity yet to get up here to see my old friend Rogers and the casino, however, so I thought I would take this opportunity.

"Canon is going along well. I am glad to see the progress and the prosperity in Colorado Springs. I am glad to know that the Rough Riders are going to come here next year. They could not have selected a better place."

A BIG TREAT.

Coming to Colorado Springs—Something New, Free.

Coming to Manitou and Colorado Springs. Greatest wonder of the 19th century to be seen in the open air.

Something new, free to everyone. Never before has the public been treated to a free exhibition of this nature and magnitude, and only now through the street railway arranging to give this exhibition free to the public, commencing July 7th, 8:30 p. m., for three nights at the Springs and three nights at Broadmoor July 10th, 11th and 12th. Watch for small bills.

This exhibition has entertained thousands nightly, having been exhibited in New York theaters as their biggest feature to paid audiences. The machine is considered a triumph of the wizard's inventive genius, wondrous in its details and mechanism, and is the crowning glory of the brain of the greatest inventor of the age. When you stop to think the pictures they exhibit are made at the rate of 47 a second, and are seven-eighths of an inch by one inch in size, yet when reproduced before the public eye on a canvas cover 196 feet square. Pictures from 50 to 200 feet in length.

It is said to be one of the greatest moving picture exhibitions ever given and is in big demand. The railway companies consider themselves fortunate in having secured such a fine attraction.

Seventy-five views will be shown each evening, with a change of programme nightly. A good entertainment is in preparation for all. In other places a charge is made, but the railway company proposes to make this entertainment free to all. The same pictures are now being shown at Keith's New York theater and Eden Musee with big success.

One of the features will be an exhibition of mesmerism in open air. Another will be the Spanish bull fight, and Sunset Limited trains of Southern Pacific railway passing each other going at 50 miles an hour.

Read what the management of the Galveston Electric & Ry. Co. says of the exhibition:

June 13, 1900.

To Whom It May Concern:

"The V. S. Vitascope Exhibition Co. are with us with their attraction; about 3,000 people gathered last evening to see their first performance, and we are very much pleased to say their pictures are of the best and everyone has a good word for their show. Very respectfully,

G. A. Travis,

"Acting Superintendent."

The Glorious Fourth and How Observed

Until the shower yesterday afternoon dampened the ardor of the fireworks, Fourth of July antics prevailed in every nook and corner of the city. Immense crowds came up from Pueblo and Denver, many of them going to Manitou. Broadmoor got its share of the patronage and in spite of the rain that lasted throughout the balance of the afternoon after it set in at 3 o'clock, Cheyenne Canon was well patronized.

In the business portion and around the hotels, the celebration was more thorough and protracted. On Tejon street between Cucharas and Huerfano a party of young men remained throughout the forenoon and until the rain started, placing cannon torpedoes on the street car rails for every south bound car. The Rapid Transit company did not offer any objection and the police held aloof. Consequently the repeated heavy explosions had the street on either side lined with spectators who enjoyed the screaming and squirming as the cars shook over the explosions.

Over in Huerfano street in front of the commission houses the boys perpetrated new and novel tricks. A water melon was bored out to permit the insertion of a cannon cracker. When the explosion came, watermelon rinds, seed, juice and meat, spattered buildings on either side of the street and ruined a brand new suit of clothes for a young man who vented his fury in profanity.

A dummy cannon cracker of huge proportions caused much mirth at Tejon and Huerfano streets. It was simply a piece of wood painted like a cracker and occasioned several hundred frights to passersby as excited warnings were shouted from the stores.

In the Evening.

The evening, after the showers had ceased, witnessed the most general celebration of Independence Day that has ever taken place in the city. It began with the oncoming of dark and continued until the Fourth had passed. Everyone was celebrating, each in his own way, but a bird's eye view of the city would have presented a kaleidoscopic effect of dazzling brilliance at any moment.

Tejon street was alive with bombs, firecrackers, red fire, green fire, and hissing of rockets and puffing of candles. At the Smith-Wilson drug store there was a fake cracker a couple of feet high that frightened hundreds but harmed no one.

China Jim's stand was a center of attraction, it being his declared purpose to have nothing held over. What he did not sell he invited the boys to help him dispose of and they did it with a hearty good will.

The center of noise in the city last evening was at Huerfano and Tejon streets. The center of costly pyrotechnic display was almost anywhere you wanted to look in the north end. The vicinity of Kiowa and Weber streets sent up some very handsome rocket pieces. Mr. Blackman of North Tejon street had one of the handsomest displays in the city and Mr. P. B. Stewart had one of the best that was ever given here. A feature of his display was a bunch of fire crackers of various sizes, the bunch being fully 20 feet in length. It was made specially to his order and was imported from China through the agency of China Jim. This bunch was hoisted to the top of a telegraph pole with a rope and the bottom was then touched off. It required nearly twenty minutes for the entire bunch to explode, the people for blocks around gathering to witness the beautiful display that resulted.

Another attractive display was that at the North End hose house.

The West Side.

In West Colorado Springs there were many handsome displays. One of the features that was noticed from all parts of the city was the big fire on the mesa near the west side reservoir.

B. G. Robbins, the enterprising clothing man, had a collection of pieces that afforded entertainment for thousands of people, the location of his home, at the top of the west side hill, being particularly advantageous. His display concluded with the sending up of a large number of illuminated balloons which were noticed from every section of the city.

Accidents of the Day.

The accidents reported on the fourth were not so serious or so numerous as those which preceded the day. The worst accident of the day so far as is known at the present time was that which befell Ed Pendergast of 1214 North Wahsatch avenue last evening, when a torpedo exploded in his hand carrying away a portion of his thumb.

A man going south on Tejon street yesterday afternoon was frightened from his bicycle but not seriously hurt by a boy who fired a pistol at him from a trolley car.

Assistant Fire Chief McReynolds touched off a small brass cannon with a match instead of with a fuse and received some powder in the side of his face. A physician succeeded in getting most of it out again.

A son of Plumber Haas, residing at 430 West Yampa street, held too long to a cannon cracker and had a finger blown partly off.

A little boy living in the north end, whose name was not learned, was quite badly burned on the hand by firing a sky-rocket and holding to the stick instead of letting it go.

A little girl living near the high school, dropped a light into a cigar box in which there was a quantity of powder. The explosion singed her hair and eye-brows considerably and burned her clothing to some extent but she was not seriously injured.

It may have been a giant fire cracker that made the bicycle of Mr. J. Humphrey shy in front of the Spaulding house early last evening. In any event the wheel shied and Mr. Humphrey in falling sustained a fracture of the thigh. The injured man was treated at the office of Dr. Hering's, on Tejon street, and was thence sent to his home.

Quiet With Police.

The police report that the day with their department was unusually quiet. Only two arrests were made during the day.

The department had a good patrol of the business district during the entire day but there were very few cases where the officers felt called upon to interfere with the fun that was resorted to by the people.

In Colorado City.

In Colorado City there was a general celebration of the day. Mr. George Geiger, one of the prominent citizens of Colorado City, took his cannon to the knoll west of the city and with the assistance of [illegible] other gentlemen, made a celebration that was very generally enjoyed. Colorado avenue was a center for noise and frolic until late in the night.

A [illegible] were the only occasions during the day for arrests.

SAD DEATH OF MISS THERESA BROWN

Miss Theresa Brown, who was fatally burned in a coal oil explosion which occurred Tuesday morning at her home on West [illegible] morning at 8 o'clock. Her injuries were extremely painful and she suffered intense agony before death claimed her. The burns were not deep but they covered the entire lower part of her body. Dr. White who attended stated Tuesday evening that her life could scarcely be saved. He did all in his power, however, but his efforts were in vain.

The young lady was the 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Brown, and was quite well known in the city. Her parents are grief stricken over the loss of their daughter.

Fairley Bros. will have charge of the funeral arrangements. The funeral will be held this morning at 10 o'clock, from the home at 3[illegible] West Costilla street.

Mr. Sullivan studied under Dudley Buck. His numbers will be popular ballads and will include the Toreadore song from Carmen and the well known number, "Best of All." Those who desire a pleasant but quiet evening will find it at the casino, and it will be refreshing after the Fourth. Mr. Sullivan sings in the Italian and English as well as French.

SPEECH OF GOV. THOMAS AS TEMPORARY CHAIRMAN

Convention Hall, Kansas City, July 4.—A round of applause greeted Governor Thomas as he ascended the platform He looked the ideal presiding officer—tall dignified black garbed, his face showing intellectuality and force of character. He held in his hand the typewritten manuscript of his speech, and in full round voice, easily reaching to the remotest corners of the building he began his address as temporary chairman He said

Fellow Democrats —We meet under most auspicious influences, On the nation's birthday, in a great central city of the republic, at the close and opening of a century, we come together to reaffirm our allegiance to the principles of Thomas Jefferson, and our loyalty to their greatest living exponent. We have been selected by the farmer and the artisan, the miner and the mechanic, the producers of wealth in every state and territory of this mighty nation to register a decree they have already determined, to proclaim a candidate they have already chosen We come not with the pomp and circumstance of consolidated wealth but as delegates of the plain people who believe that all men are created free and equal and that all governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed We are here not as the representatives of the vast interests which dominate our industrial life, but as the champions of the individual citizen who stands helpless in their presence We speak not for those who would pivot the finances of the world upon a single metal supplementing its inadequacy by a paper currency issued by a private monopoly at the expense of the people but for the millions who believe in the money of the constitution, and in the ability of their countrymen to legislate for themselves without the previous permission of foreign parliaments, potentates or princes

We are in very truth the party of the people Our declaration of faith and purpose given to the world four years ago has been strengthened by the passage of years and is enshrined today in our hearts and hopes It marked an epoch in political history and symbolized the regeneration of the party whose birth was coeval with the birth of the Union whose death [illegible] survive It crystallized into an undying creed the precepts of our founders, reaffirmed the objects of Democratic organization and proclaimed Democracy to be no longer a name but a great spirit and living heart

Cleveland's Bonds Defended.

The close of President Harrison's administration found the country face to face with conditions of the gravest moment A deficiency in the public revenues through the reckless legislation and profligate extravagance of the Fifty first congress had become apparent in the preceding October A bond issue prepared in February, was postponed as a legacy to the incoming administration Trade and industry long stimulated by unequal tariff laws were staggering toward a crisis Monetary conditions disturbed and unsettled threatened early disaster The storm came in June when the elements long pent up and long accumulating burst in fury upon the continent [illegible] foundation of our commercial fabric overwhelmed every branch of trade and industry and spread bankruptcy and desolation everywhere [illegible] the work of years The misery and ruin [illegible] hearts of the people The country slowly emerged from the receding flood the stricken nation struggled to [illegible] began the work of economic reconstruction while statesmen discussed the causes of our calamity In the agony of our suffering [illegible] a primal source, a vicious and indefensible monetary system Men differed as to the method of its reformation not as to the necessity for a change They wrangled over in confirming an unsound and artificial financial system the logical outcome of whose operation was inevitable disaster

Division on Money Question.

The line of division between political forces became therefore sharply defined in 1896 upon what was called the money question That question involved as we then asserted and as we now know every other economic problem It embraced within its wide limitations the issues of labor and capital of combination and competition of production transportation and distribution It was predicted that the defeat of bimetallism would be followed by the retirement of all forms of government currency by the delegation of the power of note issues to the holders of the national obligations the practical consolidation of all lines of transportation and the consequent domination of every commercial pursuit by a horde of colossal monopolies These predictions have in general been verified

Democratic defeat had scarcely been recorded when the march of consolidation was resumed Every pursuit that engages the attention of man has been exploited capitalized and appropriated The earth and the waters round about it have been explored for subjects of monopoly and those who have thundered against unsound money have used the printing press and the engraver's art to turn out thousands of millions of fictitious values to whose profit the toilers and consumers pay constant tribute Every avenue of industry is closed to the competitive energies of the citizen has been listed on the stock exchange and rises and falls with the turn of the gambler's card Consolidations succeed consolidations and as they lessen in number they enlarge in the volume of their real and fictitious accumulations and their [illegible] all [illegible] terial and political interests These evils startling in their magnitude and inevitable in their consequences must [illegible] gregation all powerful and all absorbing [illegible] force of an aroused public opinion finding expression at the polls in support of the nominees [illegible] tion

The party in power carried the last election by and through the support of [illegible] influences we now criticise Having purchased the right to pursue their various objects the government has been at all times their powerful ally Hence the onward march of organized wealth to absolute power and the exaltation of the dollar above the rights and welfare of the multitude Hence [illegible] whose issue presented in acute form to the voters of 1900 is that of industrial despotism as against the liberty of the citizen

Mainspring of Progress

Democracy wages no war against wealth Under her beneficent rule its creation and amassment have ever been among the most worthy objects of human effort The desire for material comfort and well being is the very mainspring of progress The wealth that comes as the reward of honest industry and thrift commands and must receive the encouragement and protection of the law But the wealth that comes through partnership with the government which usurps its prerogatives and perverts its agencies, which absorbs the resources and blasts the opportunities of the individual crushes competition levies tribute on the producer and consumer cor[illegible]cial life and reduces the citizen to dependence upon its will excites our just apprehensions Free institutions must languish where communism of wealth prevails. Official integrity cannot survive its temptations Against its continued prevalence the conscience of the nation must be quickened and aroused if its baleful influences are to be destroyed Modern monopoly is the offspring of the Republican party It is the genius of organized commercialism It has neither conscience, sentiment nor patriotism It knows neither justice nor morality Its inspiration is greed, and its purpose is accumulation Corruption is its necessary instrument No public servant is too high none too low to escape its influences Its hand is on the throat and in the pocket of every human being in the nation

It sneers at the rights of man, and defies the sovereignty of states It regulates wages and the prices of life's necessities It divides the territory of the Union into commercial provinces punishes integrity and rewards the unscrupulous It gives or refuses employment at its pleasure It blacklists the workingman and sets him adrift to starve in the midst of plenty It marches its battalions of employes to the polls places its chosen ballot in their hands and coerces their suffrage for its favored instruments It is enthroned in the councils of the nation and the states sits upon the bench and makes and expounds the law It gives millions to its political protector to debauch the consciences of freemen and receives ten fold return through the legislation that it dictates It is marching to despotism under the canopy of the republic It is the enemy of Democracy which has accepted its gauge of battle Either the trusts or the government must disappear

The New Currency Law.

At the demand of the so-called financial interests the present congress has enacted a new currency law By its terms the government has presented to the national banks twenty-five millions of dollars given the control of the volume of our currency, and released them from all save a nominal tax thereon provided for the payment in cash of the premium values of the greater part of its interest-bearing bonds and created a perpetual national debt It has declared for the payment of all obligations in gold stricken from its contracts the reserved right of the government to use its own money for the payment of debts and delegated to private interests the power to supple[illegible] medium by a paper money whose volume they shall regulate, and which the people are taxed to support The greenback and the treasury note are retired an inert mass of $150 000 000 of gold is to be kept in the treasury by the issue of bonds whenever necessity The currency must shrink and swell as the judgment of selfishness [illegible] and the menace of bimetallism against sound money and the national honor has been thus evaded

This law, commended by the money changer and the holder of idle capital seeking investment where taxation can be avoided is the culmination of a series of enactments beginning with the measure of 1869 to strengthen the public credit and by which the financial affairs of the Union have been placed wholly within the control of a select few and the burden of debt is constantly increased by the sacrifice of property values It is the logic of sequence of that sinister influence which has from time to time introduced changes in the public obligations whereby every covenant in the public interest has disappeared It contains within itself a Pandora's box of evils which time will surely open Those [illegible] its beneficiaries will repudiate it when the wrath of an outraged people shall be aroused by the experiences of its operation The skies are smiling now and the hills are green but the storm cloud already gathers over those who have builded [illegible] greed of a power whose avarice cannot be satisfied with the universe

An All Around Protest.

Against this iniquitous scheme of [illegible] have no money system founded upon the public debt and dictated by those who hold it We stand for the gold and silver of the constitution for a paper currency founded upon them and issued by the government as the embodiment of our sovereignty We will not tax the people for the maintenance [illegible] money system We would pay and not perpetuate our public debt We will dig our metals from the hills and open our mints to their coinage We will pay no tribute to a cartel for that which is our own We will scourge the money-changer from the temple of our treasury and consecrate it to the service and the welfare of the common people

Those who assert that the money question is dead have given but little heed to the lessons of experience It can never die until it shall receive a righteous solution If it be true that our monetary circulation is the life blood of our commercial system it must follow that upon its wholesome quantity depends our continued welfare, Nostrums administered in times of stress may postpone but cannot defeat the demand for complete and thorough renovation of a vicious and destructive policy The Democratic party will accept nothing short of this No substitute for the bimetallic principle upon which substantial and enduring prosperity must depend Through all vicissitudes of political fortune the needle of its compass points to that as the magnetic star of sound national policy

Explaining Prosperity.

The phenomenal increase in the annual output of gold has materially added to the general stock of primary money and relieved the stress of contraction which succeeded the closure of the Indian mints to silver in 1893 The consequent improvement in business and industrial conditions may be traced directly to this fact although the failure of crops in various portions of the world and the waging of a great offensive war with its accompanying expenditure of treasure have contributed to the general result The enlargement of the sum of our metallic money has cheapened this value stimulated prices and set the wheels of enterprise again in motion No more striking demonstration of the bimetallic contention was ever witnessed Had the [illegible] relation of the two metals been uninterrupted they would have kept the quantity of our money of redemption in harmony with our national growth and our development apace with the increase of wealth and population The terrible crises of the past quarter of a century with their attendant miseries and bankruptcy would have been avoided and prosperity would have remained with us unbroken and enduring The false plea of 1896 that the monetary volume was sufficient and the world's supply of gold ample for its needs is now transparent Its error is admitted in the boast of our opponents that they have increased the per capita circulation The vast quantities yielded by the mines are readily absorbed by the ceaseless demand for its use and its multiplied increase is earnestly hoped for No voice is raised against its continued production No fear is expressed that we can be embarrassed by its abundance yet its annual output exceeds that of gold and silver in the years when the latter was repudiated because of its threatened inundation Experience tells us once more by example that there is no money like that which nature furnishes and that the limitations which she has placed upon guards against a redundant currency more reliable than all the legislation wrought by the wisdom of man Our opponents stand confounded by the irresistible operation of a law they have denied Industry breathes with more content because there is more money for her purposes and her votaries in the presence of its operation unite with Democracy in proclaiming the great truth that civilization gains and humanity advances with every addition to the world's stock of gold and silver, that each is the handmaid of the other and both essential to the constant and harmonious progress and development of the world

It Answers the Requirements

If the enormous gold yield of the past five years were indefinitely prolonged, the needs of bimetallism would be relatively inconsequent But it will not be The production of gold and silver oscillates one or the other always preponderating The pendulum will again swing to the other extreme Bimetallism knowing this knows also that the crisis returns again if man shall reject the offering nature presents for our continued prosperity Looking backward over the past and forward to the coming years we ask this great nation to provide against recurrence of disaster by adhering to the system of finance which the fathers crystallized in the constitution and base its future policy on that secure foundation

The prevailing sentiment of Democratic sympathy for all people struggling for the blessings of liberty impelled the administration two years ago to interfere with the despotic tyranny of Spain over Cuba and secure to the oppressed people of that island the right of self government Our ultimatum delivered we solemnly and officially declared them to be free and independent and disclaimed to the world any disposition or intention to exercise sovereignty jurisdiction or control over the island except for the pacification thereof and asserted our determination when that was accomplished to leave the government and control of the island to its people

The Philippines.

The conditions of the ensuing war sent Admiral Dewey to the distant Philippines where another people engaged in the same struggle with the same oppressor appealed to the same impulses of our nature There he broke the power of Spain, which suing for peace submitted to the liberation of Cuba and the cession of Puerto Rico Our government disdained the spirit of its manifesto of April and became the purchaser of the Philippines in January Since then we have given Cuba the benefit of our civic institutions by governing her through the war department We have kept faith with Puerto Rico by substituting the [illegible] for the Castilian duke [illegible] confirmed the [illegible] estimate of the white man by prolonging the Spaniards method of colonial government in those islands of the far off [illegible] the national sympathy for all who seek self government has been made the instrument by which cupidity and greed acquire and hold a feeble nation in thraldom against its will The right of purchase is invoked to justify the adoption of a so-called colonial policy by the great western republic and her glorious institutions are declared to be for home consumption with prohibitive duties against their exportation The constitution is bounded by the domain of the 45 states, and the congress is created with absolute jurisdiction over all that lies beyond them The bill of rights has become a bill of platitudes and military governments centralized in the war department are the agencies of ben[illegible] [illegible] beyond the confines of the ocean imperialism has become a favorite word in the national vocabulary Destiny is the name of its fateful brother Trade expansion is the mystic verbal tie that binds them All are paraded as the cause or excuse for every sin against the [illegible] our fathers while clamorous appeals to a so-called patriotism drown the solemn warnings of sages and of statesmen against the certain tendencies of the new dispensation The [illegible] the national conscience, while its critics claims are stilled by the incantations of [illegible] interests of monopolies which pursue their pathway of constant accumulation through all the vicissitudes of the eventful event [illegible] unmindful of the decay of our institutions and unconcerned [illegible] the constant flow of the surging tide of public opinion that soon shall overwhelm all who have used the machinery of the Republic for the extinction of a commonwealth

Cause of Liberty.

We have cheerfully submitted to a burdensome taxation that Cuba might be free that Puerto Rico might enjoy the heritage of our constitution We have consecrated our sons to the cause of liberty and sent them freely forth to extinguish the last vestige of despotism in our hemisphere We protest against the payment of tribute or the devotion of life to the cause of empire We will emulate monarchy neither in conquest nor in government We would perpetuate the Monroe doctrine and realize with Jefferson that its first and fundamental maxim is never to entangle ourselves in the broils of the Old World

We need not despoil the helpless that we may trade with them We realize that a standing army is the attendant of imperialism We would avoid the latter because once avowed as a national policy, it must undermine and overcome our domestic institutions We would avoid it because its adoption must lead to other wars and other conquests to the shedding of innocent blood to burdensome taxation to a hopeless national debt to the forcible annexation of other lands to constant entanglements with the affairs of other nations In short to all the evils foreseen by the father of his country and depicted in that immortal address whose earnest warnings are forgotten or disregarded by our rulers

We would have no colonial system Its pestilent brood has already hatched in [illegible] grown apace for months in distant Manila It is the fruitful mother of oppression and maladministration It has no place in the economy of a republic It cannot live in the atmosphere of freedom It is the asylum of dishonesty and incompetency It breeds fraud wrong and scandal It [illegible] the ruler, a rebel of the ruled It deceives and beguiles the home government It robs and plunders the subject people It is an instrument of despotism and the antagonist of Democracy It requires for its [illegible] a permanent military establishment Our national standard has a stripe for every state that framed the Union a star for every commonwealth of the sisterhood It has neither place nor emblem for subject peoples or colonial systems

We believe in that system of expansion which under Democratic rule brought half the continent as a galaxy of commonwealths into the Union We denounce that expansion which by conquest overcomes the people of another hemisphere under the pretext of giving them liberty which governs them by force which denies to them the rights of citizens which subjects the American workman to increased and deadly competition by confronting him with hordes of Orientals coming hither from so called American provinces to take his place at the forge in the mine and the factory

The American Soldier

The stretch of 35 peaceful years from the close of the rebellion to the opening of the war for Cuban independence [illegible] the valor and self denial of the American soldier Inspired by the loftiest patriotism the highest devotion to country he has again testified his readiness and ability to wage her battles and win her victories On land and sea under [illegible] he is the [illegible] invincible to-day whose fathers [illegible] town at New Orleans at [illegible] and Gettysburg established [illegible] tained and perpetuated the republic To them to all of them to soldier and [illegible] widows and their orphans to those stricken by bullet and [illegible] helpless and the deserving to care for the men who stand and for the loved ones who fall in conflict for the nation is the most sacred of our obligations and it shall be our constant care to [illegible]

The sentiment which animates the American volunteer and makes him first among soldiers finds its inspiration in popular government in the identification of the citizen with the republic The same spirit impels American sympathy wherever Democracy battles for existence or struggles for establishment Wherever freedom makes a stand or liberty utters a protest they find response in the hearts and hopes of our people Love of independence is confined to no land or latitude In sunny France, in the South African republics on the bounds less veldts of South Africa it has given strength to arms that fight and courage to hearts that beat for home and liberty It has been baptized in the best blood of martyred heroes everywhere Baffled oft, it never dies and we who have for a century bathed in the sunlight of its blessed presence pay instinctive homage to its defenders in other climes May the day never come when a free people struggling against the dismemberment or destruction of their country shall look in vain for sympathy and consolation to us as their exemplars

Nicaragua Canal.

We would build the Nicaraguan canal as an American enterprise for the American people We would operate it in times of peace and control it in times of war We would fortify it notwithstanding the protests or the objections of transatlantic powers We would share the benefits and responsibilities of its management with no nation We would concede its advantages in times of peace to other nations under terms and conditions of our own prescription and deny to them and to all of them any further identification with its affairs

We [illegible] political alliances with no countries whatever We neither need nor desire them For a century and a quarter we have survived the [illegible] and the enmities of Europe We have flourished notwithstanding the civil and foreign conflicts of that eventful period When we were weak confronted with the embarrassments of distracting internal dissensions with a government of ill defined authority with undeveloped resources and a sparse population our friendship was unsolicited our strength despised Today we are courted by the nations which would utilize our strength and profit by our association We are reminded of the difference between blood and water of the identity of our speech and origin of the tremendous advantages that must accrue to us through our alliance with kin beyond the sea We are told that the growing needs of commerce, the expansive force of trade identity of interests and institutions the bond of a common destiny demand a better understanding and a closer union with the mother land These and other considerations continually suggested and favorably received justify our protest against any bond of international union

It is as true now as ever that it is folly in one nation to look for disinterested favors from another that it must pay with a portion of its independence for whatever it may accept under that character There can be no greater error than to expect or calculate [illegible] nation It is an illusion which experience must cure which a just pride ought to discard

We would relieve the people of the burden of taxation If administrative authority is to be credited, the Spanish-American conflict ended 18 months ago The [illegible] that the Philippine insurrection is over The treasury is bursting with a plethoric revenue, millions whereof are deposited with favored banks which lend it to the people [illegible]

Notwithstanding these conditions, [illegible] cunningly devised to fall upon the backs of the people and screen large interests from responsibility for the public burdens, willingly assumed and cheerfully borne in the heat of [illegible] times of peace with no signs of relief from the party in power Unnecessary taxation is unjust taxation and unjust taxation, by whatever name it may be called is the plunder of the citizen by his government

General Investigation.

We would investigate the public expenditures and demand an accounting for the millions that have been lavished in the purchase of naval stores and war munitions, in supplies equipment and transportation We would inquire into the conduct of the war, stamp out favoritism in high places and reward the real heroes of the conflict We would ascertain and fix the responsibility for the terrible mortality of our military camps for the inefficiency of bureaucrats and their subordinates and for the needless sacrifice of thousands of our soldiers to the cupidity of contractors and the incompetency of appointees

We would have for our chief magistrate a man sprung from the loins of the people, rock-ribbed in his convictions, and controlled by the admonitions of his conscience A man of lofty ideals and steadfast courage A man to whom his country's constitution appeals as a living and sacred reality A man who exalts the duties, the rights and the welfares of his fellow citizens above the sinister and corroding influences of centralized commercialism A man whose ear is untuned to the pulsations of the pocket-book but responsive to the heart throbs of the masses A man with no [illegible] chary with policies that are his own A man with strong opinions and with a strong will to enforce them A man conscious of his country's dignity and power of its capacity to cope with all conditions A man who measures the greatness of the republic by the protection it gives to the humblest citizen A man whose clear vision perceives the cause and whose steady judgment determines the remedy for the ills of the body politic A man who will lay [illegible] hand of authority upon the vast interests dominating the moral industrial and political life of the nation and maintain the integrity of our institutions against all their designs and encroachments A man who recognizes no dignity greater than that of an American citizen no right more sacred [illegible] the enjoyment of every opportunity that a land mark like ours affords A man whose opinions do not change with his apparel whose policies are not fashioned from day to day by influences that control and direct him whose plain duty consists not in sanctioning the repudiation of his own country We want a man of no plastic mold conforming his opinions to passing impressions of popular sentiment as [illegible] in their abandonment as in their advocacy We want a man to whom right is greater than expediency who postpones no duty to the demand of privilege who is loved by the multitude respected by the world and [illegible] only by those who distrust the people

Rule of Republicans

The Republican party boasts of almost unbroken rule for nearly 40 years Its mission was to defeat the extension [illegible] stitution It appealed to the moral forces of the republic and founded its organization upon the principles of the Declaration of Independence It was triumphant A great war waged and its administration effaced slavery from the land and forever determined the integrity of the Union. Since then it has undergone complete and marvelous change It once declared its opposition to all combinations of capital It has now become the exponent and defender of capital in all its forms the protector of every political evil that has arisen since the war to assail or menace the welfare of the citizen The emancipator of the negro it has fostered those commercial conditions which are fast establishing a system of industrial slavery Once solemnly declaring the maintenance of the principles of the Declaration of Independence as embodied in the federal constitution to be essential to the preservation of our Republican institutions it now maintains the right to govern subject peoples by the sword Once declaring the people by tradition and interest to favor bimetallism and condemning the policy of the Democratic administration in its efforts to demonetize silver it now denounces that ancient doctrine and claims credit for its complete destruction More recently declaring [illegible] independence it scarcely disguises its present purpose to absorb that island There was a time when it put its trust in the [illegible] people in its trusts There was a time when its standards were lofty and ennobling Its only standard now [illegible] its ideals shone forth like precious gems through the dust and heat of party strife Its ideal now is the party machine and the party campaign fund Its battle cry years ago [illegible] Freedom and the Union If it [illegible] credit be given to one of its modern leaders its motto for 1900 is Gold and Glory It is a far cry from the ringing tocsin of 1860 to the buccaneer refrain of 1900 yet it well typifies the shameful transformation If to its alliterative attraction we add monopoly and militarism and place the dollar mark above them in its waving banners the world will gaze upon the [illegible] picture of [illegible] declaration

Against the continuance of this party in power we enter protest With the man exalted above the dollar the constitution above the combination the equality of all before the law with solemn promises to correct the abuses of administration and to enforce those fundamentals of government which secure exact justice to all we shall not appeal in vain to the wisdom the intelligence and the patriotism of the American people

THREE SCORE OF PERSONS KILLED

Electric Car Took Plunge of 100 Feet Into a Gulch.

NEAR TACOMA WASHINGTON

Car Was Crowded With Holiday Excursionists and None of the Passengers Escaped Injury.

Tacoma Wash., July 4—Nearly a hundred people passengers on a car bound for this city were plunged down a gulch at Twenty sixth and C streets shortly after 8 o'clock this morning. Th ... standing on the plat forms dropped off only to ... wound ... by the heavy body of the coach while others inside were killed and maimed before they knew what had happened. The car jumped the track and was smashed to kindling wood in the bottom of the chasm over 100 feet below.

The dead will number nearly three score for there are many of the injured who will never recover and who are expected to die at any moment and there are at least 60 of the passengers of the car ... various hospitals and under the care of ... physicians. It was one of the most appalling accidents that has ever occurred in this city.

The victims were residents of nearby towns Edison Lakeview, Parkland Lake Park and other places coming to Tacoma to spend the Fourth of July.

There was help at hand a few moments after the accident occurred. Citizens, policemen firemen guardsmen, ex-volunteers and women and children aided. The sides of the gulch are steep in fact so steep that a goat would scarcely venture to descend them but the cries of the wounded made men forget themselves and they plunged downward without regard to their own safety.

Work of Rescue.

Ropes were quickly procured and the victims of the wreck were drawn carefully to the top of the gulch and their wounds attended to as fast as it was possible for the physicians to work. Every doctor in the city was called on for his services. The Fanny Paddock and St Joseph hospitals were soon crowded with patients who but a few moments before were in the enjoyment of their health. Hacks express wagons and all sorts of conveyances were pressed into service but there was another vehicle that was in use too. It was the wagon of the dead. It came to take away the last evidence of the destruction caused by the wreck. It made journey after journey and it was always full. Boys and girls and men and women were its freight. The morgues of the various undertaking rooms were scarcely large enough to hold all and then when the dead had been sorted from the living, and the last one had been removed from the wreck, excited ... and ... besieged the morgues searching for missing friends.

The Car was Crowded.

The car which carried its human freight into a deep ravine instead of to the city was No 116 of the United Traction Company's cars and was on the Edison line. It left Edison at about 8 o'clock in charge of J L Bohn, motorman and J D Calhoun conductor. The car which is one of the big box-like affairs was crowded to the doors and every inch of space on the platforms was taken. Men hung on to the railings and were glad to be able to ride to the city for like those inside they were anxious to arrive early so as not to miss any of the Independence day exercises.

The car ran merrily along the ... they were nearly all acquainted and everything was pleasant until it reached the apex of the hill just beyond Tacoma avenue.

Motorman Lost Control

From this point ... One is that the motorman after starting down the hill turned on his current instead of shutting it off and when the car had gained such a momentum as to threaten to get away from him he turned off the current but it was then too late for the car was going at lightning speed and there was nothing to bring it to a standstill for the incline is steep. Passengers on the front platform when ... the sharp curve ... the bridge as it leaves De Lin street endeavored to jump. Several of them succeeded and reached the ground in safety but others were as badly injured as they might have been had they remained in the car to the bottom of the chasm.

A New Railroad to San Francisco

The recently completed extension of the Santa Fe Route through the San Joaquin valley to San Francisco will be opened for passenger business on July 1, 1900.

The Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe railway has heretofore possessed the distinction of being the only line with its own track and trains all the way from Chicago to Los Angeles and San Diego. San Francisco and the important cities of the San Joaquin valley are now added to the vast territory served by this great transportation system under one management, which territory also includes a large part of the region between Denver on the north and Galveston on the south.

Stress is laid upon single ownership and management which insure uniform excellence of service. Overland trains by this route do not miss connection because they run through. The eating house and dining car service is of the same superior quality throughout under management of Mr Fred Harvey. The best equipment is provided. Employes are everywhere solicitous and courteous. Responsibility for the comfort of passengers is not divided.

No other transcontinental route offers so great a number of attractions to the tourist. Among these are mountain altitude and scenery extinct volcanoes petrified forests pre-historic ruins Indian pueblos the Yosemite and the Grand Canon of Arizona which is the greatest scenic wonder of the world. Every characteristic phase of industrial life in the west is traversed en route.

The Santa Fe has long been the favorite route between Colorado and southern California. By virtue of the same high grade service and unexcelled attractions it hopes to win equal favor with travelers to and from San Francisco and intermediate cities of the Golden State.

The service will consist at first of Pullman and tourist sleepers and chair cars daily. The early resumption of the California Limited is contemplated.

LOCALS WON FROM THE ELYRIA TEAM

At Washburn field yesterday morning the ex collegians won a baseball game from the Elyria team the contest being a particularly creditable one considering the fact that the home aggregation started ... crippled by the absence of Griffith who was depended upon to twirl the hide and Herr who was booked for his old position at center field.

Cox occupied the box for the first two innings. His work was good but the ... enthusiasts were more than pleased when Griffith put in an appearance in time to go into the box for the third. He immediately struck out three men and the collegians ... in high confidence over the arrival of their pitcher started in and made seven ... in the third.

Two was the best they could do in the fourth and that closed the run making for the collegians. Elyria made two runs with Cox in the box and brought in one more in the fifth and another in the eighth.

DISASTROUS FIRE IN A WEST VIRGINIA TOWN

Parkersburg W V July 4—The most horrible calamity that this city ever witnessed occurred this morning at 7 20 o'clock in which six men were blown to atoms and one other George Chalk so badly injured that he soon died and two more are expected to die any minute. The dead

J H HAMILTON general superintendent of the Ohio River railroad

J LALIME master mechanic

CHARLES MOHLER yardmaster

G O SHANNON, known as Dick, extra train dispatcher

BRADLEY REEVES freight brakeman

GEORGE CHALK a fireman died about noon at St Luke's hospital

Will de Jim Ruth fireman, Will Carr Jr engineer.

Twelve others were badly hurt and about forty others many of them children were more or less hurt.

The yards of the Ohio River railroad are spotted with pieces of torn flesh and sprayed with blood that was wiped up by the burning of oil. The scene is a veritable charred spot and descriptive power fails to give any adequate conception and impression of its horrors.

A ... oil was on the yard track for shipment. An engine with Will Carr as engineer and George Hupp as fireman was pulling a train of fast freight south bound. The switch was open and the train ran into the ... with the tank car. The collision caused a hole to be bored in the top part of the tank and the oil ignited. This happened a few minutes after 3 o'clock this morning. It made a fearful fire. Master Mechanic Lalime and the general superintendent J H Hamilton were called upon to devise some means of ridding the track of the burning tank and extinguishing the blaze.

The effort was made to tip the car over. There were few people who were close to the car as the heat was so intense that this manner of disposing of the ... was given up. Pouring water on it had absolutely no effect. While some of the men were grouped near the tank after 7 o'clock an explosion occurred. It was caused by the fire igniting with the gas that had been formed from the burning oil. It came with a flash of fire and a deafening report.

Some people who were standing near were not affected by it at all. These saw the bodies of men flying in the air and saw others knocked to the ground by the concussion of the air as the tank went through the air. It had parted and went in two directions. There were numbers knocked down by the force of the air. Those who were killed were struck by the flying end of the tank which went in a southerly direction. It was 300 yards distant from the ... ground near the shops. All of the fatalities occurred by being struck by this part of the tank. The pieces which went ... no one.

CANCER IS NOT INCURABLE

Time was when Cancer was considered as incurable as leprosy. Physicians and friends could give little relief or encouragement to the afflicted with this terrible disease. Even now doctors know of no remedy for this fearful malady, while admitting it to be a blood disease, they still insist that there is no hope outside of a surgical operation, and advise you to have the Cancer cut out, but at the same time cannot assure you that it will not return. You may cut or draw out the sore, but another will come in its place, for the disease is in the blood—is deep-seated and destructive, and beyond the reach of the surgeon's knife or caustic flesh-destroying plasters. The blood must be purified and strengthened, the system relieved of all poisonous, effete matter before the Cancer sore will heal.

S. S. S. is the only medicine that can overcome this powerful and contaminating poison and force it out of the blood. It builds up and invigorates the old, and supplies new, rich, life giving blood. S S S is a purely vegetable remedy; no mineral can be found in it, the roots and herbs from which it is made contain powerful purifying properties that act directly upon the blood system and make a safe and permanent cure of Cancer. It has cured thousands, why not you?

Cancer is not always inherited, your family may be free from any taint, yet your blood may become so polluted that a severe and stubborn form of the disease may develop from a sore or ulcer on your tongue or other part of your body; a slight bruise or hurt, a little pimple on the eyelid, lip or nose, a small lump on the jaw or breast, a harmless looking wart or mole, and other causes so insignificant as to attract little or no attention. If you have an obstinate sore, don't rely upon salves or ointments to cure it begin with S. S. S. at once, it will cleanse your blood and prevent the formation of cancerous cells.

Mrs R Shirer La Plata Mo writes: A small pimple came on my jaw about one inch below the ear on the left side of my face. At first it gave me no trouble and I did not think it was anything serious until the jaw began to swell and became much inflamed. At the same time the sore began to spread and eat into the flesh and gave me intense pain. I tried everything I could hear of but nothing did me any good. I then began the use of S. S. S. and after taking several bottles the Cancer ... ... the disease. This was two years ago, and I am still enjoying perfect health.

HOTEL WORLD CONFIRMS PARK HOTEL STORY

The Hotel World the hotel man's criterion, this week contains an article in its fifty number of the leasing of the Park Avenue hotel by Messrs. Reed and Barnett, as chronicled in yesterday's Gazette. "The World is paid to be a thoroughly reliable medium especially concerning changes of management, etc. It has the following to say about Mr. Barnett's new project:

"Barnett Morris, Reed and Barnett are now proprietors of the Park Avenue hotel, New York, having recently completed negotiations for a ten years' lease of the house. It has been announced in these columns that the gentlemen were likely to lease the Park Avenue, which has been under the management of Mr. E. A. Reed, of the new firm, for three years past. Mr. E. Barnett is well known to the hotel fraternity, having conducted the famous Antlers hotel, Colorado Springs, Colo., for eight years until it was burned about a year and a half ago. Before going to Colorado he was the successful proprietor of one of the leading hotels of Canton, O."

HAD A HARD FALL FROM HIS BICYCLE

A middle aged man who gave his name as Burnsides, received a dislocation of the right hip in falling from his wheel at Cucharras and Tejon streets yesterday afternoon during the windstorm that preceded the rain. His hat blew off and at the same time he grabbed to catch it, his trousers caught in the sprocket, and an exceptionally hard fall resulted, his head striking the rail. A score of people witnessed the pitiable efforts of the man to rise as clouds of dust enshrouded his form, but it was some time before any one proffered assistance. He was finally carried to the Spaulding hotel and later removed to his home on the west side. He stated that his family is in Detroit and that he is in temporary quarters until they come.

A MEASURE OF MERIT.

Colorado Springs People Should Weigh Well This Evidence.

Proof of merit lies in the evidence.
Convincing evidence in Colorado Springs.
Is not the testimony of strangers;
That's the kind of proof given here.
The statement of a Colorado Spring's citizen.

Mr. C. [illegible] of 322 East Caramillo street, Associated Press operator says: "Long before I came to Colorado Springs I knew all about Doan's Kidney Pills in the state of Massachusetts, where they are considered a household remedy. I used them several years ago for a lame and aching back and I have seen scores of statements from representative citizens of Worcester and other cities in the East all emphatically endorsing the claims made for that preparation. My advice to anyone suffering from either weakened or overexcited kidneys is to procure Doan's Kidney Pills at the Smith-Wilson Drug Co.'s store, 1 Tejon street, take a course of the treatment and the results will inevitably follow."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no substitute.
